

SEMI-WEEKLY INTERIOR JOURNAL.

VOL. XVIII.

STANFORD, KY., FRIDAY, JUNE 6, 1890.

NO. 28

MT. VERNON, ROCKCASTLE COUNTY.

—On and after June 14th the postoffice at Rulo, this county, will be discontinued.

—The ladies will give an ice-cream and strawberry supper at the Christian church to-night.

—Owing to failure in arrival of printers who had been engaged to work in the Signal office, that paper will be late with this week's issue.

—The bill lately passed by the Legislature granting a charter for Mt. Vernon sets the time of holding the police court for trying civil cases for the first Monday in August, November, February and May. J. G. Carter, police judge.

—Letters of inquiry, etc. regarding our depot agents last patent, "Envelope Moistener and Sealer," are received daily from England, Canada and all parts of the United States. They are not yet on the market, but will be in two months.

—Mr. and Mrs. B. Graves were down from Rowland during the week. Mr. Jesse L. Powers, of Whitley county, was here Wednesday. Miss L. M. Myers, a Woodbine beauty, is visiting friends here. Mr. J. M. Williams is telegraphing here a few nights for operator R. A. Brown.

—Pulaski county proposes to meet Rockcastle county at Level Green with a turnpike from Somerset to intersect with the proposed eight mile one from Mt. Vernon. The citizens of the Lynchburg neighborhood, in Garrard, are ready to meet us at Copper creek, 10 miles north of Mt. Vernon. These 18 miles of good road would be of vast benefit to the entire county. Others would soon follow. Rush the work.

—The road commissioners appointed under the late road law met here Monday and Tuesday for organization and transaction of business. It was decided to purchase at once $1,000 worth of picks, shovels, sledges, crow-bars, drills, etc., for road working purposes throughout the county. Work will begin as soon as practicable and the roads, all of which have been neglected for the last four years, will be put in passable shape by fall.

—Mr. Frank Rout, the wide-awake and fun-loving manager for S. L. Powers & Co. here, with Mr. G. W. Baker, devised a neat little plan to have some fun at the expense of our genial merchant, Logan Thompson, Saturday evening. While that gentleman was at supper they raised one of his back store windows, concealing a telephone just inside and running a line across the street and awaited their victim's return. When he arrived Mr. Rout entered the store and engaged him in conversation on the subject of spiritualism. Mr. Thompson is a believer, having heard John Corley talk it so much. Mr. Rout acted as medium and soon had up a conversation over the concealed telephone. Upon Mr. Rout's offering to blow out the candle so as to better perform his work, Mr. T. made a rush for the door, declaring he wouldn't stay in the room with a medium at work in the dark. Explanations afterwards followed and if you want to get thrashed just make a few raps on Mr. T.'s store door.

The Louisville Commercial tells this little tale: Major Matt Adams, one of the defeated candidates for clerk of the Court of Appeals, left the city on the same train Saturday afternoon with ex-Speaker Myers, who was chairman of the noted convention. He was seated when Mr. Myers entered the Pullman and seated the ladies accompanying him just in the rear of the Secretary of State. As the former did so, his eye fell on Major Adams, and, going around to him, he offered him his hand in his characteristic cordial manner and said, pleasantly, "Major, how are you?" The major drew his robes about him, and laughingly retorted: "I don't care to have any further communications with you, sir." Still smiling, but with a glitter in his eyes the ex-speaker replied: "Well, sir, I only acted the part of the gentleman in speaking to you, and can now assure you that it will afford me no less pleasure than it will you for our relations to be that of strangers hereafter." No explanations followed and it is unnecessary to say there was no conversation between the two officials en route to Frankfort. What further offense than that of individually favoring Longmoo with his vote Myers had given Major Adams does not appear, unless it be that he imagines Myers used his position as chairman to defeat him.

The superstition among newspaper proof readers that Susan B. Anthony is a sister of the late Mr. Mark Antony, of Rome, has led to frequent errors in spelling the name of the distinguished Roman leader. While Miss Anthony's name is always spelled with an h her supposed brother used no h's whatever. At least none can be found in his name on any of the hotel registers of his day. The h in Miss Anthony's name may be merely a bit of feminine affectation. Mark Antony's name should no more be spelled with an h than Samson's should appear with a p.—Courier-Journal.

A ROYAL HOP.

The Merry Bachelors Fairly Out-do Themselves.

The Merry Bachelors' annual June Hop has passed into the memory of all who attended it, as one of the most superb of the series given by the club extending over a period of 16 years. Nothing had been left undone by the club to make it a memorable event, and the success of their efforts in every particular was both marked and gratifying. The crowd, composed of the handsomest ladies and most gallant young gentlemen of the surrounding section, augmented by many from a distance, was the largest ever gathered in the Opera House, which shone as never before with beauty and chivalry. An idea can be formed of the size of it, when it is told that 62 couples danced in one lancers and that the spectators numbered even more than the dancers. It was indeed a joyous occasion, marred by no circumstance or accident that could in the least degree detract from it. The home boys were on their best behavior and the visitors vied with each other in correct deportment. Seibert's orchestra of eight pieces furnished splendid music and taking it all in all, it was the most delightful hop ever given in this section. The natural loveliness of the ladies was enhanced by costumes of rare beauty and diamonds and other jewels sparkled in unison with their bright eyes. Following are the names of the ladies and what they wore:

RICHMOND.
Miss Alma Hagan, lavender silk; pantes and diamonds.
Miss Annie White, white mull; diamonds.
Miss Mollie Eife, brown Grecian robe; diamonds.

Miss Minna Crutcher, pink silk, gauze overdress; diamonds.

LOUISVILLE.
Miss Mattie Hudson, dotted mull; diamonds.
Miss Sankey Hudson, white mull; diamonds.

Miss Lula Yager, Nile green albatross, black velvet trimming.
Miss Kahler, white albatross, white satin bodice; gold.

LANCASTER.
Miss Georgie Moore, black grenadine, pink trimmings; pearls.
Miss Jennie Moore, blue albatross, pink satin bodice; diamonds.

Mrs. A. H. Rice, black fishnet over black silk; gold.

CHAB ORCHARD.
Miss Katie James, pink gauze, diamonds.
Miss Mand Pettus, white mull; flowers.

Miss Lottie Dillion, blue satin; rubies.
Miss Eva Buchanan, dotted mull; turquoise.

DANVILLE.
Miss Bertie Snail, pink mohair, brown silk trimmings; diamonds.
Miss Nancy Dunn, blue silk, mull; flowers.

Miss Minnie VanSycle, pink silk; diamonds.
Miss Annie Spears, cream colored fish net; pearls.

Miss Isabel Owsley, white silk tulie; pearls.
Miss Maggie Dodds, cream colored serge; diamonds.

Miss Jessie Dodds, fish net, passamentarie.
Miss Lizzie Dunn, pink silk, gauze overdress; flowers.

Miss Deira Baughman, black lace; flowers.
Miss Mary Talbott, white cashmere; gold.

Miss Saurerle Campbell, Rock Castle Springs, Paris novelty bordered, cream cashmere, moire and lace trimmings; diamonds.

Miss Pattie Tribble, Junction City, pink silk lace; pearls.
Miss Mary Clay, Paris, white moire silk; diamonds.

Miss Sue Pickett, Maysville, white silk and lace.
Miss Tillie Hall, Winchester, helio-trope Henrietta street suit; gold.

Miss Mary Adams, Hustonville, red cashmere; gold.
Miss Mary Nell, Columbia, blue satin, old gold front; pearls.

STANFORD.
Miss Nettie Wray, figured challie; diamonds.
Mrs. Dr. W. B. Penny, white mull; natural flowers.

Miss Bessie Reid, pink silk, gauze overdress; diamonds.
Miss Emma Sautley, white silk Hebe gown; diamonds.

Miss Mary McKinney, orange silk, pearl trimmings; natural flowers.
Miss Annie Alcorn, green silk, gauze overdress; diamonds.

Miss Annie Hale, black lace; diamonds.
Miss Essie Burch, dotted swiss; pearls.

Miss Laura Ellis, tan satin; diamonds.
Miss Dora Caldwell, old rose mohair with gauze; gold.

Miss Maggie Owsley, white silk; diamonds.
Miss Bessie Richards, black silk, hand-painted; gold.

Miss Annie Green, figured challie; flowers.

Miss Clara Lackey, white tulle with trimmings; pearls.
Miss Helen Sautley, blue cashmere, en train; flowers.

Miss Georgie Wray, black lace, orange trimmings; pearls.
Miss Foeie Pennington, blue crepe duchoene; flowers.

Miss Annie Shanks, black velvet, brocade front; diamonds.
Miss Ella Shanks, old rose velvet, brocade front; diamonds.

Miss Ophelia Lackey, red cashmere; gold.
Miss Nannie Baughman, lead colored street dress.

Miss Kittie Baughman, brown street dress.
The gentlemen present were:

DANVILLE.—Messrs. Fox, Boreing, Creel, Tinsley, McRoberts, Loyie, McKinney, Parnelle, Apperson, Batterton, McKee, Brewer, Skillman, Rue, Hann, Roberts, McMurray, Hudson, Yeager, Gray and T. N. Roberts.

LANCASTER.—Doty, Currey, Dunlap, Marksberry, Rice, Walker, Owsley, Allen.
KNOXVILLE.—J. E. Briscoe.

SOMERSET.—Scott and Curd.
LOUISVILLE.—Short and Yager.

HARRISBURG.—Sizer, Currey, Thompson.
CHAB ORCHARD.—Moore and Zeller.

Robert L. White, Pineville, John Smiley, Lexington.

The sun was peeping over the hills before the last strains of the music died away and even then the merry dancers were reluctant to leave the scene. The Bachelors did themselves proud and added further to their deservedly high reputation as entertainers.

Three of 'em in the Same Boat.
(To the Editor of the Interior Journal.)

CHAB ORCHARD, June 2.—In a recent issue you observe that the "Hon. Benjamin Butterworth, of Ohio, did the Fontaine Fox Bobbitt act by speaking on one side of a question and voting on the other." For the benefit of the numerous readers of your paper I desire to inform them that the Hon. Benjamin Butterworth and I are not alone in this idiosyncrasy. The Congressional Globe of 1873 shows that the immaculate Judge Durham did the same thing. In speaking in Congress on the "salary grab" law he said: "Mr. Speaker, I have not one word to say against the last Congress that increased their salary from $5,000 to $7,500. It is not one cent too much, but because my constituents are making such a clamor about it I shall have to vote to reduce it to $5,000." This is not all that Judge Durham said on that occasion, but all he did say was in favor of retaining the salary at $7,500. Thus you see here is an illustrious trio guilty of this singular paradox.

In my case I went to Frankfort as a member of the Legislature, to vote against everything that took money from the treasury. I voted against the cloak-room, newspaper and ice bill appropriation and every other appropriation, and especially that grand and useless humbug, the geological survey, that has now cost Kentucky $230,000, and the late defunct, unlamented Legislature, which was remarkable for the length of its session, and the further remarkable fact that it did not have even one prominent member in the Lower House, appropriated $15,000 more. Had our per diem been voted upon I certainly should have voted against paying the members a dollar, but I should have made a mighty strong speech on the other side. But in regard to my speech in favor of the pluri-pneumonia bill, I saw the vast importance to the cattle men of Kentucky in exterminating that dreadful disease and I made such a speech in favor of the bill that we carried it with a whoop over the governor's veto and still remained true to my determination to vote against everything that took a dollar out of the treasury.

FOXTAINE FOX BOBBITT.

After a housekeeper fully realizes the worth of turpentine in a household she is never willing to be without a supply of it, says the Home Queen. It gives quick relief to burns; is an excellent application for corns; it is good for rheumatism and sore throats. Then it is a sure preventive against moths; by just dropping a trifle in the drawers, chests and cupboards, it will render the garments secure from injury during the summer. It will keep ants and bugs from the closets and storerooms by putting a few drops in the corners and upon the shelves and it is sure destruction to bedbugs.

The statisticians find that the government of the United States is getting out of debt at the rate of nearly $100,000,000 a year, and that the farmers are getting into debt at about the same rate. When the farmers go to bed at night too tired to sleep, they can turn this thing over in their minds or ask their wives about it. Sometimes unlooked for truth is suddenly revealed to inquirers who patiently put this and that together, comparing cause and effect. Can it be that the tariff is at the bottom of the trouble?

DANVILLE, BOYLE COUNTY.

—Montie Fox and Mrs. Georgia Duncan attended the Duncan-Perkins nuptials at Somerset, Tuesday.

—Rev. Harry Henderson, of Versailles, will preach at the Methodist church Sunday morning and night in the absence of the regular pastor.

—Those who attended the Art Reception at Lancaster Monday night speak of it as a very pleasant occasion. The art display in the college hall was to say the least splendid in variety and number of pictures and the execution of the work went to show that the faculty have a teacher of whom they should be proud. The teacher is Miss Mary Webb, of this county.

—At the children's day service Sunday evening Judge M. J. Durham made a nice speech to the children and the advice which he gave them if they follow it out will make good men and women of them. At the beginning of his speech he said that he was so used to speaking in public and pleading at the bar, the children need not be surprised if he called them fellow citizens or gentlemen of the jury. He lectured to the children from the following truths: Be truthful, be honest, be prompt, never touch intoxicating drinks of any kind, never gamble.

—The annual concert of Caldwell College, which was given at the Opera House Monday night, was largely attended and the fine music given by the pupils reflects much credit on Miss Richie as a teacher. The exercises of the primary department took place in the College chapel Tuesday morning and was well attended by the parents and many others. The commencement exercises of the College took place Tuesday night in the Second Presbyterian church.

The salutary was read by Miss Elizabeth Caldwell, Boyle county, the valedictory by Miss S. Frances Hendricks, of Flemingsburg. The other graduates were Misses Lula Owsley and Mary McDowell, of this city. Rev. E. H. Pearce delivered the annual address, which was pronounced a very scholarly one. Dr. C. B. H. Martin in some well chosen and appropriate remarks presented the graduates with their diplomas. Seibert's orchestra, of Louisville, furnished the music of the evening.

Green Briar Dripping Springs, Hotel Katydid—One Mile East of Crab Orchard.

Having at last got that Middleboro business satisfactorily adjusted, I will inform my patrons and friends that when I became convinced that the Hotel Katydid would not be completed at Middleboro by May 1st as per contract, I immediately put 25 hands at work at my springs with the determination to have it ready for the reception of guests during the coming season. The result is that the "Katydid" is now almost ready to spread her wings, expand her body and soar on high. The facts in the case are that a beautiful summer hotel, with nearly 400 feet of front verandas all around, out buildings, cottages, stables, store-houses, pavilions, ball-room, belt railroad, &c., will all be completed and ready to receive guests on the 1st day of July, beyond a doubt. On the 4th of the event will be celebrated by one of the grandest Balls and Picnics ever heard of in Kentucky. The place is one of the most picturesque and romantic I ever knew. On top of a mountain, close to a river, an abundance of shade, the finest water in the world and everything that can be desired. It will be a $10 resort, but during the first season I will only charge $7 per week or $24 per month. Good music will be one of the main features, also a dancing master and a ball every night. The dining room and cooking department is the most completely arranged I ever knew and is 100 feet long.

Old friends, come and see me!

Respt., D. G. SLAUGHTER.

Richmond Register and Lebanon Enterprise copy and charge to me.

D. G. S.

A. E. GIBBONS,

—Dealer In—

WALL PAPERS.

PAINTS & OILS.

VARNISHES, ETC.,

DANVILLE, - KENTUCKY.

WALL PAPER AND DECORATIONS, the largest and most complete stock in Central Kentucky, with all the latest and most artistic decorations known to the trade. Room Mouldings and Window Shades in endless variety. PRICES THE LOWEST AND WORK THE BEST. An examination is kindly solicited before orders are placed.

21-21a

Notable Public Sale.

At 3 o'clock p. m. on

MONDAY, JUNE 9, 1890,

On the premises, the

STANFORD ROLLER MILL

AND ELEVATOR

Will be sold without reserve at public auction to the highest bidder.

Capacity of Mill 75 Barrels per Day; Capacity of Elevator

40,000 Bushels.

The Mill is a substantial new brick building of 5 stories, equipped with the latest and best machinery and situated within 50 yards of the Louisville & Nashville depot in the town of Stanford, Lincoln county, Ky., the heart of the best wheat district of the State and within reach of excellent markets by three railroads.

The cost of the entire plant was about $30,000 and it has been run most successfully and profitably since its equipment. The Mill is now in operation and will be until sold.

Sale is made to close up the affairs of the corporation.

Terms:—One-third cash; balance in one and two years with 6 per cent interest. Notes with approved security and a lien on property to secure same.

STANFORD ROLLER MILL CO.,

Stanford, Ky.

FOR SALE.

HOTEL PROPERTY.

Being desirous, on account of my old age, of retiring from business, I offer for sale privately my one-half interest in the Hotel now occupied by me, formerly called the St. Asaph, in Stanford, Ky., and also the furniture and fixtures.

The House is most eligibly located on Main street, in the center of the business, has a large and desirable patronage and is doing a profitable business. It is a substantial brick building of over 30 rooms, with two large rooms for merchandising, a good stable and other appurtenances.

Also a store house and lot in Hustonville, Ky.

Stanford is a prosperous town with a population of 3,000, rapidly increasing, in a prosperous section; has two railroads with prospects for more, is a good place for Hotel business, and a desirable community to reside in.

Terms and further particulars may be had by addressing Miller & Owsley, attorneys at law, 15-16 M. C. PORTMAN, Stanford.

J. H. HILTON

DILLIONS SWITCH, KY.

—Dealer In—

Dry Goods, Notions, Hats, Caps

Boots, Shoes, Clothing, Hardware, Queensware, Linenware, Furniture and a

General Line of Groceries,

Fancy Candies, Cross Ties, &c.

All kinds of Produce taken in exchange for goods.

Postoffice, Livingston, Ky.

HALE'S WELL.

Season opens June 14 with a Grand Hop on Friday eve, June 20. Dance called at 8:30 sharp. Reduced rates for board and cottages till July 1st.

RATES FOR BOARD FROM JULY 1ST:

Per Week.....$6.00

Day.....1.00

Meal......50

Cottage Rent, per week, determined by size, $5.00

Month.....20.00

Horses fed, per Week.....3.00

Day......30

23-11 A. L. SPOONAMORE.

THE MYERS HOUSE

E. H. BURNSIDE, Proprietor

No Hotel in Kentucky has a better reputation, and its proprietor is determined that it shall be maintained.

He has recently added to its appointments

Pool and Billiard Parlors

—Also—

A First-Class Livery Stable

To accommodate the demands of his increased transient patronage. Best Turnouts furnished Commercial Travelers and others.

NEWCOMB HOTEL.

MT. VERNON, KY.

This old and well-known Hotel is still maintaining its fine reputation. Charges reasonable. Special attention to the traveling public.

M. P. NEWCOMB, Prop.,

St. St. Mt. Vernon, Ky.

—OLD—

WEATHERFORD HOTEL.

HUSTONVILLE, KY.

P. W. GREEN, - Proprietor.

Having leased the above hotel, refitted and re-furnished, I am prepared to accommodate the public in first-class style. Rates reasonable. Good Livery and Sample Rooms attached.

13-11a

THE RILEY HOUSE,

F. B. RILEY, Proprietor,

London, - - - Kentucky.

I have moved to my new Hotel and am better prepared than ever to accommodate the public. Good Livery attached and every convenience desired. Give me a call.

77 FRANK RILEY.

Wanted

SALEMEN to sell Nursery stock. All goods warranted first-class. Permanent, pleasant positions for the right men. Good salaries and expenses paid weekly. Liberal inducements to beginners. No previous experience necessary. Write for terms, giving age. CHARLES E. CHASE, Nurseryman, Rochester, N. Y. Mention this paper.

For Sale---Brick Residence

In which I now live, west Main street, and the business block known as the Owsley Block, opposite Court Square, Stanford. J. B. OWLSLEY.

Farm For Sale.

I offer for sale privately my Farm known as the old Lewis Lunsford place, near the Stanford and Lancaster pike, and running nearly to Dix River, containing 112 Acres. It is well improved, has good cistern, and the land is in a fine state of cultivation. Call on or address me at Gilberts Creek, Ky. S. L. WITHERS.

I. M. BRUCE,

LIVERY, SALE AND FEED STABLE,

STANFORD, KY.

SPECIAL ATTENTION TO COMMERCIAL

travelers. Horses and mules bought and sold. Only first-class horses and vehicles used in livery.

HARRY A. EVANS,

ANALYTICAL CHEMIST,

STANFORD, KY.

Engineering and Surveying in all branches.

POSTED.

This notice forbids hunters, fishermen and others not to trespass on our lands without permission, as all such will be prosecuted to the fullest extent of the law. Signed:

D. V. HOLMES, Dr. P. W. LOGAN,
PHILBERT RICHARDS, JOSH. ADAMS
B. W. GAINES, J. R. MCKINNEY,
Mrs. SAMFORD IRWIN, JOHN G. LYNN,
Mrs. ALICE LUCKER, JES. BALLOU,
THOS. C. BALLOU.

Farm For Sale.

I desire to sell my farm of about 150 acres, situated about 14 miles north of Stanford on the Rush Branch R. R., opposite the old church. There are about 50 acres in wheat and rye, the balance of the farm well set in timothy. Good dwelling of four rooms and kitchen and a splendid new barn; is well watered and fenced. Possession can be given immediately. For particulars, see J. P. Bailey, Stanford, or write the undersigned at Cincinnati, Ohio. E. WITHERS.

THE COMMERCIAL HOTEL

J. B. OWENS, Manager,

Harrodsburg, - Kentucky.

I have taken charge at this popular hotel and intend to run it in a first-class manner in every respect. It is being papered and painted from top to bottom, the bedding is being renovated and everything done to make it pleasant and comfortable for guests. The table shall never be surpassed by hotels in this section. J. B. OWENS.

$50 REWARD!

I will pay a Reward of Fifty Dollars for information on conviction of any unauthorized person

Found Cutting Timber or Damaging any Improvements

On the following property:

The farms at Highland known as W. A. Cash's, Tim Hutchinson's, George Baugh's, Budie Hays, H. P. Young, I. S. Young's 15 acre place, W. Terry's, Wm. Long's.

At Cox's Gap—W. Hutchinson's 40 acre farm, Freeman and R. E. Barden's timber tract on Buck Creek, 307 acres, John Turnbull's, 57 acres, John Buchanan's, 302 acres, M. J. Harris', 90 acres, B. Powers', 100 acres, John Anderson's, 14 acres, Wash. Harris', 27 acres, Freeman's, 300 acres, Robinson Mill tract, I. Tobin's farm, Bryant Kidd's farm, Joel Petrey's farm, A. Gooch's farm, W. Collins' farm, on Glade Ridge, 600 acres, Henry Miller's, 200 acres, Henry Miller's, 442 acres, Stephen Burch's, 253 acres, D. B. Edmiston's tract, Strode House, Co. and Storehouse at Otterhead, Hotel, Cottage and Storehouse at Otterhead. J. OTTENHEIMER.

102-6m Agent for Owners.

OLD KY. ROUTE

Newport News & Mississippi Valley Co., "E. D."

Solid Vestibule Trains to

Washington, Philadelphia

Baltimore, New York,

All points East and Southeast.

Only one night out from Lexington.

Corrected Time Card in Effect Jan. 12, 1890.

STATIONS.

Daily Express. Daily Mail. Accom. Daily Express.

DEMOCRATIC TICKET.

For County Judge, THOMAS W. VARNON;
County Attorney, JOSEPH B. PAXTON;
County Clerk, GEORGE B. COOPER;
Sheriff, J. N. MENEFEE;
Jailer, SAMUEL M. OWENS;
Assessor, E. D. KENNEDY;
Sup't of Common Schools, W. F. McCLARY;
Surveyor, HARRY A. EVANS;
Coroner, ARCH CARSON.

THE Louisville Times pays this deserved compliment to a most worthy and popular gentleman: "No man has made more personal and political friends during the struggle over the nomination of the late democratic convention than Mr. James B. Martin, of Barren county. His course all through the stormy scenes was that of a well-poised, dignified and thorough gentleman. Over and over were propositions made to him to 'combine,' made to him by the friends of another gentleman, but they had no effect and were unhesitatingly rejected."

THE president of the Kentucky Union Land Co., Col. J. Stoddard Johnston, was here yesterday in the interest of the company, whose object is to build the Three Forks City, five miles above Beattyville. Col. Johnston has been very successful in his various enterprises in the mountains since he gave up politics to become a money devil. He says the talk about him for governor is of course gratifying, but he is seeking no office and wants none at present.

THE selection of that clear-headed gentleman and fine man of affairs, Col. J. B. Castleman, as chairman of the State Democratic Central Committee, was one of the best acts of the late convention. He will bring a large experience in political affairs and a strong personality into the office, which will be of great benefit to the party. We never took much stock in the Lexington lay-out, whose principal card was brag and bluster.

COL. BAYNE, the republican representative from the 23d Congressional district of Pennsylvania, after making strenuous efforts to secure a re-nomination got up in the convention and declined it. As his nomination was equivalent to an election, this unheard-of action is causing much comment, for few republican office-holders die and none has heretofore resigned.

THE thieving republicans in Congress robbed Mr. Turpin, of Alabama, of his seat and gave it to Mr. McDuffie, the republican, notwithstanding Mr. Turpin's majority was 13,000. If such outrages are not condemned with a vengeance at the November election, we mistake the character of the Southern people, who are being daily outraged by Reed and his mob.

HON. W. BROWN, a distinguished republican of Jessamine county, died at Lexington this week of Bright's disease. He ran twice against the late Senator Beck for Congress in his district and made creditable races both times, besides adding to his reputation as a debater, in which he was very accomplished.

THE superintendent of the census has issued an order forbidding under heavy penalty the enumerators from making public any of the secrets obtained in the discharge of their duties. The ladies can therefore tell about their deformities and diseases with measurable impunity.

JUDGING from the number of letters received by the secretary in response to his circular with reference to transportation, nearly every editor in the State will attend the Winchester meeting. The capacity of the "Gateway City" is going to be taxed to its utmost.

THE internal revenue collections for May are the largest for 20 years—$16,837,772. The commissioner says that it results from the fact that the people are drinking more whisky and beer than ever before, which is not a reassuring fact for us prohibitionists.

THE Illinois democratic convention nominated Gen. Palmer for U. S. Senator and the legislature will be elected on that issue. The signs are propitious that the old democrat will warm a seat in the Senate before many moons wax and wane.

THE convention to nominate a democratic candidate to succeed Mr. Carlisle in Congress, has been fixed for June 9th at Carrollton, which is considered a point in favor of John S. Gaunt, of that place, who is a candidate.

TO the Democratic County Committee. GENTLEMEN.—You will please meet at my office in Stanford, Monday, June 9th, county court day, for the transaction of important business.

THOS. D. NEWLAND, Chm'n.

—Judge Lindsay has decided, on account of business obstacles, not to make the race for delegate to the constitutional convention.

NEWS CONDENSED.

—The Louisville duel turns out to be a fake.

—The public debt reduction for May is stated at $6,661,871.

—The tourist rate of 2 cents a mile is now in effect on all railroads.

—Matt Morgan, the noted caricaturist, died at his home in New York.

—It costs the nation $250,000 a year to print the Congressional Record.

—Col. J. H. Detchen, president of the German Security Bank, Louisville, is dead.

—Kentucky paid $2,316,650.92 in fire insurance premiums during the year and got back $1,346,899.34 in losses.

—At the close of his first day of work as a New York city census enumerator, Frank Mange, committed suicide.

—Senator Carlisle has introduced a bill providing for the erection of a public building in Newport, Ky., to cost $100,000.

—The Philadelphia Record estimates that the artificial ice companies can profitably make and deliver ice at $3.30 per ton.

—Representative James Belden, of New York, has been elected chairman of the republican congressional campaign committee.

—D. Webster Stoddard, who was convicted of forgery at Utica, N. Y., on hearing the jury's verdict shot himself in the head and will die.

—Louisville has 1,350 manufacturing establishments, turning out annually products valued at $65,000,000 and employing 39,000 hands.

—The Oregon election resulted in the selection of Penney, democrat, for Governor, Herman, rep., for Congress and a republican legislature.

—C. M. Grubbs, formerly business manager of the Winchester Democrat, and Wm. Mitchell, of Mt. Sterling, will start a new bank in Cynthiana.

—The Louisville papers are kicking vigorously over the incompetency and general worthlessness of the census enumerators appointed in that city.

—The sale of all the Louisville street-car lines to a syndicate of New York and Philadelphia capitalists has likely been effected. The price named is $4,000,000.

—Sears, Garrey & Co., Somerset, and G. A. Soule, of Science Hill, dealers in general merchandise, have assigned, the former for $5,000 and the latter for $3,500.

—No news of the escaped murderer, O. F., alias "Sandy" Anderson, who shot Mollie Gilpin, at Jellico, on the 18th, although a big reward is offered for his capture.

—Lightning struck a powder house one mile east of Mansfield, O., and the explosion which followed wrecked several houses in the vicinity, killing two children and fatally injuring their mother.

—John S. Bell, chief of the secret service division of the treasury department, has been dismissed to make room for a republican. His resignation was asked for some time ago, but he declined to tender it.

—It has been discovered that the United States supreme court, several years ago, in a case precisely parallel in principle to the recent Iowa original package case, reached exactly the opposite conclusion.

—Contractor J. C. Rodemer has just completed 22 miles of the Nashville and Knoxville road. Most of the work was very heavy. The cut at Silver Point is 900 feet long and 70 feet deep.

—The democratic county committee of Clark county has formally declared W. M. Beckner the democratic nominee in that county for delegate to the constitutional convention. He had no opposition.

—Frank W. McIlvain, cashier of the Sulphur Deposit Bank, has skipped with $10,000 of the bank's funds and another man's wife, Mrs. John Watkins, with whom his name has for some time been scandalously connected.

—Edward Laroche was arrested in Knoxville for the murder of Edward Huntley, at Middlesboro on the night of October 13, 1889. The murder was deliberate and cold-blooded. Huntley was shot from behind and killed instantly.

—The irrepressible Sarah Althea Hill Terry is now making life interesting for the administrator of her husband's estate. She is going around breaking the windows of his office, calling him pet names and doing other pleasant things.

—Loveland, Iowa, was almost totally destroyed Sunday afternoon by a cloud burst, the flood from which swept away nearly every house in the village. Four persons lost their lives and families were forced to seek safety in tree tops.

—Assistant Post-master General Clarkson has practically quit the department. He has started on an inspection tour to the Pacific Slope and when he returns, at the end of June, his resignation will be placed in the hands of the president.

—Lewis J. Hann, the bank cashier of Belvidere, N. Y., who choked his wife and threw her down stairs, breaking her spinal column, insists that it was a case of self-defense. He should be granted an early opportunity to defend himself against a hangman's noose.

—It is reported that the Louisville & Nashville Railroad Company has decided to issue a general mortgage of $50,000,000 to take up bonds as they become due, and to provide a surplus for improvements, extensions, etc. The surplus fund will reach about $9,000,000.

—Bud Lindsay, a deputy U. S. Marshal, killed James Kirts, a distiller, near Jellico, because he refused to sell him two gallons of whisky, which his license forbade. The murder was very unprovoked and occurred after Lindsay had gone home and armed himself.

—Two more of the Wils Turner crowd were killed the other day. They went with Wils to Lee county to move his father to Harlan, and while going along the road shot and killed a dog belonging to John Carter. He had a warrant issued for them, but they resisted the sheriff's posse and caught it as above.

—The anniversary of the Johnstown disaster, which overwhelmed that city a year ago, May 31, was observed with memorial services over the graves of those who lost their lives. But a small part of the devastated district has been rebuilt with permanent buildings. The reminders of the terrible havoc of one year ago are yet painfully numerous. A day scarcely passes but that the fleshless remains of one or more victims of the disaster are unearthed, as the restoration of the city slowly progresses.

The Rounds of the Business Manager.

LIBERTY, KY., June 3.—Another six months has rolled around and another "big court" is in session, and excepting those unfortunates who have "done those things they should not have done and left undone many things they should," the "Caseyite" is glad of it. This they showed by a large attendance Monday and further evinced by staying from early dawn till the "last beam faded" trying, as it were, to make the biggest day possible of it. The first day of circuit court is indeed an important event in Liberty for it is about the only time the smaller politicians can mingle with the bigger guns; the granger gets more chance to converse with his brother tiller of the soil and the festive bean is dead certain to see his best girl in or about town. They all come to town, and considering this, it is not a wonder why the jam and bustle of circuit court is anticipated.

Liberty has not risen Phoenix like from the recent fire, and I am sorry to say, will not for perhaps years to come. The loss to some of those burned out was their all and the consequence is they are not able to start up again. Messrs J. W. Whipp and R. T. Pierce will build, however, and the latter has already put up a temporary building where he is selling goods. Mr. Whipp, who is perhaps the oldest merchant in town, is comfortably located in a private house, with goods spread from parlor to kitchen and up stairs and down. The town presents a lonely and forlorn appearance with the best buildings gone and the thought of the loss sustained by those who have worked for decades and now everything gone, makes it look gloomy in the extreme. Fire in nine cases out of ten improves a place, but I believe Liberty is the exception. The loss was too much and years will have come and gone before the burden of its yoke shall have left.

Court convened at 10 o'clock Monday morning, with Mr. J. W. Yerkes, of Danville, judge pro tem. The usual going over the docket, selecting jurors and addressing the grand jury was done. The criminal docket is unusually heavy and several important cases will be tried. Perhaps the one attended by most anxiety and interest is that of Robert Clements for the shooting and killing of his wife, several weeks ago near Chelf's Ridge. The shooting, it will be remembered, was at first thought accidental, but Clements' careless actions, together with threats that he intended to kill his wife, have led the majority to believe that it was a cold-blooded murder. The civil docket amounts to little or nothing, thus speaking well for the county in that particular.

The grand jury will, as usual, devote most of its time to whisky cases and come out of the small end of the horn as it generally does. Passmore, who is a walking distillery, blind-tiger and anything else that pertains to the selling of whisky, can outwit a dozen grand juries and they had just as well let him go. He is a slick citizen and it is authentically stated that he can carry from 5 to 10 gallons of moonshine in his pockets without attracting the least attention.

A convention for the naming of democrats to fill the various county offices is called for Saturday next. It is to be hoped that they will not get into such a wrangle as the republicans, nor be as badly disrupted as the g. o. p. of this county is at present. It now looks like it will be judge, W. M. Myers; county clerk, G. A. Prewitt; assessor, J. A. Minor, with the school superintendent and jailer's race in doubt. They are all good men and the county will do itself proud if it sees that they are elected.

I had the pleasure of attending a singing at the Union church Sunday evening, which would do credit to a choir with double the opportunity my Liberty friends have had. The male and female voices were both good and the instrumental music first-class. The choir will please accept my thanks for a very enjoyable evening.

E. C. W.

—Secretary Noble appointed four of the seven Oklahoma town-site boards recently authorized by Congress. Mr. Samuel D. Leavy, of Midway, is a member of one of the boards.

—Kansas is shipping eggs by the carload to San Francisco.

THE HIGHER

THE TEMPERATURE

THE LOWER ARE OUR PRICES.

To enable all to

KEEP COMFORTABLE

We have made special cuts in Dry Goods, Clothing, Shoes, Hats, Trunks, Carpets, Matting, &c. We can help you to

KEEP COOL

This Summer for very little money. We never had such a stock of hot weather goods at such low prices before and we mean to sell great quantities of them this week. One fact is worth a ton of arguments, and to convince yourself of the fact, look through our immense Emporium of Spring and Summer wearables for ladies, gents, Misses and boys, and you will at once see that you can save money by making your purchases at headquarters, where you can always find just what you want at the lowest price possible. "Merit is the trade mark to success." The old-timer considers he has made good sales when he makes big profits, though he charges all his sales on his books. Our idea is, we make good sales when we sell at prices that can not be matched, and those for cash. We solicit examination and comparison. You will find our prices invariably the lowest.

THE LOUISVILLE STORE

Main Street, Stanford,

M. SALINGER, MANAGER.

—Reports of the destruction of the town of Bradshaw, Nebraska, by a tornado on Tuesday night have been confirmed. Not a single building in this town of 500 people was left intact, and most of them were blown away. Twelve people were killed, 8 mortally wounded, and 21 were otherwise injured. The tornado struck the town without a moment's warning.

Bucklen's Arnica Salve

The best salve in the world for cuts, bruises, sores, ulcers, salt rheum, fever sores, tetter, chapped hands, chilblains, corns and all skin eruptions and positively cures piles, or no pay required. It is guaranteed to give perfect satisfaction, or money refunded. Price 25 cents per box. For sale by A. R. Penny, Stanford, Ky.

Epoch

The transition from long, lingering and painful sickness to robust health makes an epoch in the life of the individual. Such a remarkable event is treasured in the memory and the agency whereby the good health has been attained is gratefully remembered. Hence it is that so much is heard in praise of Electric Bitters. So many feel that they owe their restoration to health to the use of the Great Aittrator and Tonic. If you are troubled with any disease of Kidneys, Liver or Stomach, of long or short standing you will surely find relief by use of Electric Bitters. Sold at 25 cents and 50 cents per bottle at A. R. Penny's Drug Store.

The Pulpit and the Stage.

Rev. F. M. Shront, Pastor United States Brethren Church, Blue Mound, Kan., says: "I feel in my duty to tell what wonder Dr. King's New Discovery has done for me. My lungs were badly diseased, and my parishioners thought I could live only a few weeks. I took five bottles of Dr. King's New Discovery and am sound and well, gaining 25 pounds in weight." Arthur Love, Manager Love's Funny Folks Combinations, writes: "After a thorough trial and convincing evidence, I am confident that Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption beats them all, and cures when everything else fails. The greatest kindness I can do my many thousands of friends is to urge them to try it." Free trial bottles at A. R. Penny's Drug Store. Regular sizes 50 cents and $1.00.

A Scranton 5 year-old boy, whose mother had used 10 cents from his savings fund, last evening stumped his father with the remark, "Pa, you owe me 10 cents; your wife took that much from me."—Scranton Truth.

Do not Suffer any Longer.

Knowing that a cough can be checked in a day and the first stages of consumption healed in a week, we hereby guarantee Dr. Acker's English Cough Remedy, and will refund the money to all who buy take it as per directions, and do not find statement correct. For Sale by A. R. Penny, Drugist.

Our Very Best People

Confirm our statement when we say that Dr. Acker's English Remedy is in every way superior to any and all other preparations for the throat and lungs. In whooping cough and croup, it is magic and relieves at once. We offer you a sample bottle free. Remember this remedy is sold on a positive guarantee, at A. R. Penny's.

The First Symptoms of Death.

Tired feeling, dull headache, pains in various parts of the body, sinking at the pit of the stomach, loss of appetite, feverishness, pimples or sores are all positive evidence of poisoned blood. No matter how it became poisoned it must be purified to avoid death. Dr. Acker's English Blood Purifier has never failed to remove scrofulous or syphilitic poisons. Sold under positive guarantee at A. R. Penny's.

Dr. Acker's English Pills

Are active, effective and pure. For sick headache, disordered stomach, loss of appetite, bad complexion and biliousness, they have never been equalled either in America or abroad. For sale by A. R. Penny, Drugist.

That Terrible Cough

In the morning, hurried or difficult breathing, raising phlegm, tightness in the chest, quickened pulse, chilliness in the evening or sweats at night all or any of these things are the first stages of consumption. Dr. Acker's English Cough Remedy will cure these fearful symptoms, and is sold under a positive guarantee by A. R. Penny, Drugist.

A woman might as well lie about her age as to have everybody think she does. —Somerville Journal.

Says the Southern Medical World: "Mother's Friend" is growing in favor throughout the South and is highly recommended by physicians. We consider it indispensable to those who know they must pass through the ordeal of child-birth. Write Bradford Reg. Co., Atlanta, Ga., for particulars. Sold by all druggists.

DRUNKENNESS—THE LIQUOR HAB

Tell all the World there is but one cure, Dr. Haines' Golden Specific. It can be given in a cup of tea or coffee, without the knowledge of the person taking it, effecting a speedy and permanent cure, whether the patient is a moderate drinker or an alcoholic wreck. Thousands of drunkards have been cured who have taken the Golden Specific in their coffee without their knowledge, and to-day believe they built drinking of their own free will. No harmful effect results from its administration. Cures guaranteed. Send for circular and full particulars. Address in confidence GOLDEN SPECIFIC CO., 125 Race Street, Cincinnati, O.

SPRING CLOTHING.

Our Goods are Now All In

And We Have

AN ELEGANT ASSORTMENT

Men's, Boys' and Children's Suits, Light and Dark Colors, Sacks and Frocks; also large line of Pants.

STAGG & McROBERTS.

BY RECENT PURCHASES OUR STOCK OF

Dress Goods,

GINGHAM, OUTFIT FLANNELS,

Carpets, Mattings, Rugs, &c.,

Is more complete than any time this season.

SEVERANCE & SON.

MARK HARDIN

—Dealer In—

Groceries, Hardware, Queensware, Tinware, GLASSWARE, &c.

All Goods First-Class and Sold at the Lowest Living Prices.

SIX PAGES.

The
D & C
TO MACKINAC

SUMMER TOURS.

PALACE STEAMERS. LOW RATES.

Four Trips per Week Between

DETROIT, MACKINAC ISLAND

Petoskey, The Soo, Marquette, and Lake Superior.

Every Evening Between

DETROIT AND CLEVELAND

Sunday Trips done Jan. 1st, August and September Only.

OUR ILLUSTRATED PAMPHLETS,

Rates and Excursion Tickets will be furnished by your Ticket Agent, or address

E. B. WHITCOMB, G. P. A., Detroit, Mich.,

THE DETROIT & CLEVELAND STEAM NAV. CO.

Twenty miles the Shortest to

CINCINNATI,

Making direct connections in Central Union depot for

St. Louis, Michigan Points, Chicago, Buffalo,

Detroit, Cleveland, and the West.

Canada, New England,

New York, Boston,

Washington, Baltimore, Philadelphia,

Quickest time to Harrisburg, Norfolk, Ky.,

Richmond, VIRGINIA, and

Quickest line to

NEW ORLEANS,

Solid Trains, baggage, cars, smoking cars and coaches, Pullman Tourist Sleepers, through with out change via Chattanooga, Birmingham, Meridian, making direct connections en route for Knoxville,

Asheville, Lynchburg and points in the

CAROLINAS,

At Chattanooga for Atlanta, Columbus, Wilmington,

Charleston, Savannah, Jacksonville, and FLORIDA points.

The only line running solid trains with change

Pullman Tourist Sleepers, through with out change via Chattanooga, Birmingham, Meridian, making direct connections en route for Knoxville, Asheville,

Lynchburg and points in the TEXAS, MEXICO AND CALIFORNIA.

The only through line to Jackson and Vicksburg,

Miss. Shreveport La., making direct connections without change via Dallas Fort Worth Austin San Antonio, El Paso and points in TEXAS, ARIZONA, MEXICO, CALIFORNIA.

For through rates, correct county maps and full information call on Agent at Junction City, Ky.,

or address FRANK W. WOOLLEY,

Trav. Pass. Agt., Lexington, Ky.

C. C. HARVEY, G. P. & T. A.,

Cincinnati, O.

Cincinnati, O.

Cincinnati, O.

Cincinnati, O.

Cincinnati, O.

Cincinnati, O.

Cincinnati, O.

Cincinnati, O.

Cincinnati, O.

Cincinnati, O.

Cincinnati, O.

Cincinnati, O.

Cincinnati, O.

Cincinnati, O.

Cincinnati, O.

Cincinnati, O.

Cincinnati, O.

Cincinnati, O.

Cincinnati, O.

Cincinnati, O.

Cincinnati, O.

Cincinnati, O.

Cincinnati, O.

Cincinnati, O.

Cincinnati, O.

Cincinnati, O.

Cincinnati, O.

Cincinnati, O.

Cincinnati, O.

Cincinnati, O.

Cincinnati, O.

JAMES B. McCREARY

Is a Candidate for re-election to Congress in this, the 8th District, subject to the will of the Democracy.

MISS KATE BOGLE

Is a Candidate for re-election to the office of Superintendent of Common Schools. Election first Monday in August next.

W. H. MILLER

Is a Candidate to represent Lincoln county in the Constitutional Convention.

R. C. MORGAN, D. D. S.

Office on Main street, opposite Postman House, up stairs. Nitrous Oxide Gas given for painless extracting.

STANFORD, KENTUCKY.

DR. W. B. PENNY,

Dentist.

Office South side Main street, in office recently vacated by Dr. L. F. Huffman, Stanford, Ky.

REMOVED!

I have removed my office to my residence, opposite Female College, where I will be found at all times.

HUGH REID.

W. R. CRESS,

REAL ESTATE AGENT.

Barbourville, Ky.,

Has for sale some of the choice property in the booming city of Barbourville. Correspondence solicited.

WM. AYRES JAS. G. GIVENS.

AYRES & GIVENS,

Attorneys at Law,

327 Fifth St., - Louisville, Ky.

JAS. G. GIVENS FRANK MARIMON.

GIVENS & MARIMON,

REAL ESTATE,

Pineville, - Kentucky.

Town Lots, Coal, Iron and Timber Lands bought or sold on Commission. Correspondence solicited.

JAS. G. GIVENS FRANK MARIMON.

ICE, - ICE.

Commencing Monday, May 1st, we will run a regular ice wagon and deliver ICE at the house of every person in Stanford who desires it. Notify us if you wish to be served.

BREMER & CLAUS.

C. A. BENEDICT & CO.,

Well Drillers & Pump Adjusters,

TANFORD, KY.

Wells drilled to order and Pumps furnished at factory prices.

For Sale!

Twenty Building Lots

In the corporate limits of Rowland.

H. J. DARST, Rowland.

Livery Stable.

I have added new buggies, wagons and horses to my livery business, making my stable second to none in this section. First class turnouts on short notice and feeding by the day, week or month a specialty.

O. J. THURMOND, Junction City, Ky.

C. L. CROW

Has leased one of the stables at Pence & Harris track and will run a general

Breaking and Training Stable.

He has had sufficient experience to make him an expert in the business and his rates will be very reasonable. Give him a share of your patronage.

S. J. J.

Livery, Feed and Sale Stable

W. H. JACKSON & CO., PROPS.

LONDON, KY.

Good turnouts and saddle horses always for hire on reasonable terms. London is the most convenient point on the railroad to reach places in the Green in the mountain section of the State

J. T. SUTTON & CO.,

HUSTONVILLE, KY.

Are still in the business and ready to do any thing in the Undertaking line. We have a full stock of Cases and Caskets of all kinds and Robes of every description. Our hearse, which is nearly new can be used on short notice. Mr. J. B. Green has charge of our business and will show our goods to any one needing anything in our line.

64-11

BRADFIELD'S

FEMALE

REGULATOR

FOR SPECIFIC PAINFUL

PROFUSE

SCANTY

SUPPRESSED

IRREGULAR

OR MONTHLY BICKNESS

IF TAKEN DURING CHANGE OF LIFE

GREAT DANGER TO WOMAN'S HEALTH

GO TO WOMAN'S

BRADFIELD REGULATOR CO. ATLANTA GA.

MADE BY MRS. BRADFIELD

34-11

34-11

34-11

34-11

34-11

34-11

34-11

34-11

34-11

34-11

34-11

34-11

THE LADY DOCTOR.

How She Became the Bride of a Texas Journalist.

JENNIE, I love you with all my heart.

She did not seem to be surprised or excited, for she merely replied:

"I think you are mistaken, James."

"No, I'm not! Indeed I'm not! My heart has been aglow with love for you ever since I first saw you," replied Major Edwards, excitedly.

"I am aware that it is generally taken for granted that the heart is the seat of emotion, but I know that the functions of the heart are purely mechanical and muscular."

"But, Miss Jennie, I—"

"All that the heart does is to pump the blood through the veins and arteries of the human body. I have dissected too many not to know."

"Well, then, Miss Jennie, since you persist in giving this conversation an anatomical turn, what organ is responsible for the emotions?"

"I agree with the celebrated Dr. Virchow, of Berlin, that the liver has much more to do with the emotions than the heart."

"But I can't well say that I love you with all my liver; although I believe there are affections of the liver," said Major Edwards, drawing a long breath and casting a despairing glance at the young lady. Presently he broke out again:

"Miss Jennie, I dream of you every night."

"I'm sorry to hear you say that. It shows that your case is more complicated than I supposed. But I think I can be of assistance to you."

"Eh?"

"What do you eat for supper?"

"At all events, do not ridicule me."

"I'm not mocking you, James. You must eat light suppers and take more exercise. Let me look at your eyes."

And, taking his head in her hands, she gazed in his eyes, and said, shaking her head: "As I expected. You are bilious. Have you a bad taste in your mouth when you get up, and a dull pain in your side?"

"Confound my liver! I want—"

"You want to take better care of yourself; you want to take three pills tonight, and a Seltitz powder in the morning. Oh, I know what you want!" she replied, laughingly.

"No, you don't know what I want. I want to tell you that I love you to distraction, that your image is ever before my eyes."

"Is that so? I'll have to make a more careful diagnosis of your case," she remarked, thoughtfully.

"I tell you, now, I see your image always before my eyes, no matter where I go!" he replied, excitedly.

"Poor fellow! Your intellect is failing. You should have come to me before."

"I would have come to you before, but, Miss Jennie, you gave me no encouragement. May I hope—"

"Certainly you may."

"Thank Heaven! Am I to understand that you take—"

"Of course I'll take your case. I want to report it to the Medical Journal. Those hallucinations show that your liver trouble is complicated with malaria. Your heart irregularities are purely functional and will disappear in time if you follow my dictation."

"You must avoid every thing like excitement. Let me feel your pulse. Dear me! your circulation is completely run down."

"My circulation run down? I guess not."

"Oh, yes, it is! It is not over sixty right now."

"Not over sixty?" howled the journalist. "Why, Miss Jennie, I am sending out three thousand copies of the Bugle every week to bona fide subscribers and six hundred more to dead-heads. Is that what you call having no circulation? Why, my circulation is increasing at the rate of over one hundred copies a week. Didn't you read the sworn statement in last week's Bugle about our circulation, in which I state our books are open to the inspection of the public. The advertising patronage is keeping pace with the circulation. Just think of it: a column and a half live, paying new ads in last week's Bugle! and that's not all—I am solid with the sheriff and the county clerk, and will get all the county printing. Why, Miss Jennie, the success of the Bugle has been truly phenomenal."

"Are you sure?" she asked, demurely.

"And you are not deceived in regard to the circulation by hallucinations, owing to your liver complications?"

"I swear I'm not. I am abundantly able to support a wife in style. Your every wish shall be complied with."

"I certainly think, James, that your liver complications and the functional irregularity of your heart need the care of somebody who has had experience in such matters, and if, as you say, the Bugle is in such a flourishing condition, I might—"

In the last issue of the Bugle appears the notice of the marriage of Dr. Jennie Sawyer and Major Edwards, the handsome and talented editor of that journal.—Alex. E. Sweet, in Lippincott's.

Awful Consequences of Impotency.

"Emersonia, my daughter," inquired the stately matron, "why did Mr. Brodewigh leave so early last evening? Have you and he quarreled?"

"Mamma," replied Miss Howjames, "Mr. Brodewigh kissed me last evening with such unseemly vehemence that he disarranged my spectacles. I have dismissed him forever."

And the proud Boston girl, pale but sternly resolute, turned again to her volume of Aristotle, and a deep, decorous, classically Bostonian stillness pervaded the apartment.—Chicago Tribune.

Curative Misery.

Mr. Connell—Kathie, dear?

Mrs. Connell—P'wint's botherin' yez?

Mr. Connell—Toll me wanst more how th' old pig died phin Oi was away at me wor-rik.

Mrs. Connell—Sure, Ol' told yez a Cousin's times alriddy.

Mr. Connell—Lave me hear it agin. Oi hov a chinder in me eye from th' gas-house an' Oi want t' cry it out.—Judge.

Ought to Come Higher.

Enterprising Manufacturer—I will raise the offer. Madam, to $5,000. Remember, all I ask is the use of your name.

Hesitating Prima Donna—I hardly know what to say. If it were soaps or complexion powder I should accept the offer in a moment, but—but I am not quite sure whether corn salve is equally—or proper. Suppose we say $10,000?—Chicago Tribune.

Terrible Privation.

"I recollect very well," said the venerable man, "when the high water at Paducah in '44 kept me a prisoner for three days on the ridgepole of a barn."

"What did you live on, grandfather?" inquired one of the interested little auditors.

"All them three days, children," said the aged Kentuckian, shuddering at the recollection, "I lived on water."—Chicago Tribune.

A Honeymoon in Eclipse.

"Mr. Digby told me he didn't enjoy his wedding tour. Queer sort of statement, wasn't it?"

"Why, no, auntie; not under the circumstances."

"What do you mean?"

"Well, you see Mrs. Digby had such a horror of people taking Digby and her for a bridal couple that she took a chaperone along."—Life.

In the Park.

Q.—Who is that awkward man on horseback, riding down the bridge path?

U.—He is proprietor of a new riding academy down town.

"And that preposterously fat man who fills his carriage to overflowing, who is he?"

"He is a specialist who makes a great income by reducing people's fat."—Texas Sittings.

Exactly So.

Customer—Isn't there a great profit in these shirts at one dollar? I saw in the paper the other day that the poor girls here make them for seventeen cents a dozen.

Clerk—Yes, sir; but all the girls have to do is simply to make them.

Customer—Precisely; they make the shirts and you make the money.—Clothing and Furnisher.

An Infallible Sign.

Bronson—I think the Halseys have deserted the woman's rights movement.

Howard—Have you heard them say so?

Bronson—Not but Mrs. Halsey is letting her hair grow out long and Mr. Halsey has had his cut short.—Judge.

One Question Forever Settled.

Grindstone—KilJordan, why is it that a decision from a Supreme Court is always said to be "handed down"?

KilJordan—Because it's always about some fuss that has been "kicked up."—Chicago Tribune.

34-11

34-11

34-11

34-11

34-11

34-11

THE MAN WHO CAN NOT LAUGH.

There are scores of individuals we really can't adore.

And the chiefest of the number is the very trying bore.

Who, when you're feeling jolly and a little fun would poke.

Will never see the point until you diagram your joke.

His eyes assume a vacant stare until he thinks awhile.

With great deliberation, then he dons a faded smile.

Oh! it would be a pleasure just to write the epitaph.

And hide away the shadow of the man who can not laugh.

How like a hot foot that chills the roses in their bloom.

Are a score individuals who wear a cloak of glom.

Who can not comprehend the worth of just a spark of fun.

Who shrink from joy and pleasure as the bats

avoid the sun.

The deeper, sober thought within the heart

should have a place.

But let glad laughter now and then the cares of life chase.

Away with him who cannot sift the kernels from the chaff.

This world could wag along without the man who can not laugh.

—Chicago Post.

34-11

34-11

34-11

34-11

34-11

34-11

34-11

34-11

34-11

K. C. LOCAL TIME CARD.

Train leaves Rowland at 7:00 a. m., returning at 5:30 p. m.

L. & N. LOCAL TIME CARD.

Mail train going North..... 11:50 a. m.
Express train " "..... 11:50 p. m.
Local train " "..... 11:50 p. m.
Local Freight " "..... 5:30 p. m.
The latter trains also carry passengers.
The above is calculated on standard time. Solar time is about 20 minutes faster.

ISABEL.

—OR—

From Shop to Mansion.

THE ROMANTIC STORY

—OF A—

DRESS-MAKER'S RISE IN LIFE.

"He is going to New York and he wishes me to go with him," she admitted.

"Ah! I see through the whole conspiracy," said Isabel, drawing a long breath of delighted relief. "We are going to New York to ask papa and mamma's consent; and after that, orange blossoms and a clergyman; oh! you slip puss, to invent such an improved and economical method of paying doctor's bills. I have guessed it, haven't I?"

"Yes," replied Lottie, laughing; "but upon the plan of no cure, no pay," she continued, "for I have positively refused to burden him with my poor helpless self, under any circumstances, unless I recover entirely. I love him too well to burden him with a helpless wife."

"As if he wasn't big and strong enough to carry your burdens with one finger," laughed Isabel. "If you did nothing but sit in a chair and smile at him, you could help him more than the most of women with their full strength."

"Still I shall insist on my proviso," resumed Lottie, with gentle obstinacy; "but if I am well, in six months I have promised to be his wife."

"And I think you have made a wise choice, for I believe Dr. Conroy to be worthy of even my Lottie," and she kissed the sweet, patient face lovingly. "But what will Gracie do for her little governess?"

"You will find some other poor little girl who needs your kindly assistance, dear," replied Lottie, gratefully. "What a blessing it is to have the power of creating so much happiness, Isabel!"

"I assure you I feel grateful for it every day," replied Isabel, thoughtfully. "How little we dreamed of the future in store for us six months ago, writhing under the stings of Mme. Arnot's prickly temper."

"You have never visited the South?" said Major Carrington, as they sat around the table in the spacious dining-room. Desart had been brought in, and they were chatting over it leisurely.

"Never, except on the briefest of business trips," replied Mr. Falconer.

"In some respects our glory has departed," said the Major, thoughtfully, "though in others there is a change for the better."

"The war must have wrought great changes," said Mr. Falconer, "especially in the relations of the higher classes with the laboring class."

"Yes, it is so, and though it was like the very bitterness of death to give up our old ways, I am not sure that many of us would be willing to take them back again. There is a new future and a new race springing up in the South—a future of mechanism and development, and a race of earnest, active thinkers."

"The old phase of haughty indolence is being merged into a share of your Yankee ambition and thirst for progress. I am anxious that you should see all this for yourself. When shall we look for an extended visit from you?" and he looked inquiringly at Mr. Falconer.

"We had thought of spending Christmas in New York," replied Mr. Falconer, "but, perhaps, that visit can be deferred in favor of this."

"I should like to have you see our Christmas festivities, though, of course, the plantation life is not what it once was, yet we keep up the old customs as far as possible."

"My wife and daughters will be so anxious to meet you," he continued, turning to Isabel. "We have so often speculated in regard to the little babe of our dear sister Alicia. Her mother is still living, and will welcome you with open arms. I made one trip to the North in the hope of finding you," resumed the Major, seeing that she was too near to happy tears to reply. It was so sweet to her to hear of these family ties, so new and unexpected. "But it seemed as hopeless a quest as if the earth had opened and swallowed you up. I even hunted rural cemeteries in the hope of finding some humble stone to mark our sister's grave, or some trace of old Chloe."

"Your search might be more successful now," observed Mr. Falconer, "as Isabel caused a small monument to be erected over her mother's grave, in the hope that some of her family might find it, as well as a tribute of affection from herself."

"I am glad it has been a source of sorrow to us all that one so dear should be lying in a neglected grave so far away, and poor old Chloe!" he spoke interrogatively.

"Was buried near her," replied Isabel, "she begged to be buried near her dear young mistress; I placed a small stone at her grave also."

The Major smiled at her kindly. "I see you are a true scion of the old stock; the Pembroke are a family of rare sympathies and generous tendencies, and I am happy to see that you have these qualities which made our Alicia so dear to us."

The Major took his leave in the evening, and Isabel began to look forward to her Southern trip with happy anticipations. Mr. Falconer had written to Mrs. Stanford explaining their reasons for the change in their plans, and had received from her hearty congratulations and commendation of the proposed visit. The time was now near at hand, and the preparations nearly completed for the trip, when Mr. Falconer came home with a deeply flushed face, and with a wild, restless look in his eyes, very unusual with him; for some days past Isabel had noticed that he did not seem in his usual spirits, but had attributed the fact to some slight indisposition.

"Are you sick, Mr. Falconer?" she said, in alarm, as he sat looking moodily into the fire; it was now November.

"I do not know," he replied, passing his hand over his forehead wearily. "I have had a headache for several days, and it feels so strange to-day; as if there were a bumble-bee in it."

"Let me bathe it for you," she said, bringing a bottle of cologne.

She stood by his side and bathed his head in the refreshing liquid until he fell into a restless slumber, and she noted that his breathing was hurried and uneven.

"It is a severe cold he has taken," she whispered to herself, endeavoring to quiet her own uneasiness; his entrance into his home was always so genial and kindly that she was the more alarmed by this strange, moody arrival.

He awoke with a start. "Where am I?" he cried, wildly.

"Here, my husband, at home," she replied, gently.

"Oh! yes, at home; home is where love is, Isabel," he cried, more wildly than he had yet spoken, "do you love me? I have loved you with all the strength of my strong manhood, and waited patiently for your love."

In her terror and excitement Isabel's inherent truthfulness was still predominant, and she answered him gently: "You wish me to tell you the truth, do you not?"

"Yes, yes, the truth," he said, fretfully.

"Then I will say that I do not know," she answered, still smoothing his hair and brow with her white hand; "my feelings are so mingled with gratitude and respect that I actually can not tell whether love has entered into my heart or not. I honor and respect you above all men, my husband."

"Yes, always honor and respect," he muttered, irritably, in a tone so foreign to any that he had ever used toward her that her alarm increased every moment; "respect and gratitude, but no love," and even as he spoke he settled back into a doze.

Isabel flew to the hall, and calling Mrs. Montford, begged her to send Tom for Dr. Conroy at once.

"My dear," she said, soothingly, placing her hand on his arm as he again awoke with a nervous start, "you had better go to bed and rest, and you will feel better in the morning."

He brushed her hand from his arm with a gesture of repulsion. "Don't call me dear; I want no hypocrisy," he said, harshly.

"But you are dear; the dearest friend I have in the world," and the tears almost choked her as she spoke.

"Oh, a friend, oh!" He spoke sincerely, with a bitter laugh, the terrible laugh of a man who is not himself.

"Won't you go to bed?" she asked him, pleadingly.

"To bed?" He looked at her with his heavy eyes, from which the light of reason was fast departing. "What should I go to bed for? A business man has no time for bed snoozing. Where's my hat?" and he struggled to get away from her detaining grasp.

Happy, Dr. Conroy was near at hand, and with Mrs. Montford now appeared in the door, to Isabel's intense relief.

The doctor's experience taught him how to deal with the sick man, and he soon succeeded in getting him into bed and under the influence of powerful remedies.

"What do you think of him?" said Isabel, as she followed Dr. Conroy into the hall, her eyes moist with tears, and a heart sinking with apprehension.

"He is a very sick man, Mrs. Falconer," he replied, gravely; "it would be a useless kindness to pretend any thing else. He shows every indication of having entered a fierce struggle for life, and all we can do is to hope and pray for the best," and pressing her hand in his with unspoken sympathy, he turned and left her, the hot tears streaming from her eyes and her heart lifted in prayer as it never had been before for help in this her hour of urgent need.

CHAPTER X.

In the following weeks Isabel had need of all her firmness and presence of mind, for, as Dr. Conroy had said, there was a prolonged struggle for life in the sick room; the first week had been one of delirious raving, and her heart sank within her as she repeatedly heard him muttering: "She does not love me; she does not love me."

In such sad tones that it pierced her very heart.

She knew her own heart now fully; in those terrible nights of watching, when she had sat beside him, breathless with fear and suspense, the thought had come to her in all its chilling force—that what life would be to her without him, and she knew that she loved him with a deep devotion which would last through eternity.

She told him so again and again, as she knelt by his bedside, but he only looked at her with a blank stare, not comprehending or caring for the intelligence which would have made him so happy in life.

She kissed his fevered face and bathed it in tears of contrition as she besought the answer she had given him in that last moment of partial sanity, when he had asked her if she loved him. And yet, how could she have answered him differently, without being sure of her own feelings.

Mrs. Montford had brought her skill and experience into the sick-room at once, scornful Dr. Conroy's proposition to install a hired nurse there, and had shared the young wife's vigil with unwearied devotion.

Gracie wandered through the house disconsolately, and even Lottie's unvarying sweetness and care could not console her for the loss of her parents' society. A telegram had been sent to Mrs. Stanford at the first, and as Isabel was sitting one day in the darkened chamber, her hands clasped over her face in deepest dejection, the door opened and a light step entered the room.

A pair of soft arms stole around her neck, and Isabel began to look forward to her Southern trip with happy anticipations.

Mr. Falconer had written to Mrs. Stanford explaining their reasons for the change in their plans, and had received from her hearty congratulations and commendation of the proposed visit.

The time was now near at hand, and the preparations nearly completed for the trip, when Mr. Falconer came home with a deeply flushed face, and with a wild, restless look in his eyes, very unusual with him; for some days past Isabel had noticed that he did not seem in his usual spirits, but had attributed the fact to some slight indisposition.

"Are you sick, Mr. Falconer?" she said, in alarm, as he sat looking moodily into the fire; it was now November.

"I do not know," he replied, passing his hand over his forehead wearily. "I have had a headache for several days, and it feels so strange to-day; as if there were a bumble-bee in it."

"Let me bathe it for you," she said, bringing a bottle of cologne.

She stood by his side and bathed his head in the refreshing liquid until he fell into a restless slumber, and she noted that his breathing was hurried and uneven.

"It is a severe cold he has taken," she whispered to herself, endeavoring to quiet her own uneasiness; his entrance into his home was always so genial and kindly that she was the more alarmed by this strange, moody arrival.

He awoke with a start. "Where am I?" he cried, wildly.

"Here, my husband, at home," she replied, gently.

"Oh! yes, at home; home is where love is, Isabel," he cried, more wildly than he had yet spoken, "do you love me? I have loved you with all the strength of my strong manhood, and waited patiently for your love."

In her terror and excitement Isabel's inherent truthfulness was still predominant, and she answered him gently: "You wish me to tell you the truth, do you not?"

"Yes, yes, the truth," he said, fretfully.

"Then I will say that I do not know," she answered, still smoothing his hair and brow with her white hand; "my feelings are so mingled with gratitude and respect that I actually can not tell whether love has entered into my heart or not. I honor and respect you above all men, my husband."

"Yes, always honor and respect," he muttered, irritably, in a tone so foreign to any that he had ever used toward her that her alarm increased every moment; "respect and gratitude, but no love," and even as he spoke he settled back into a doze.

Isabel flew to the hall, and calling Mrs. Montford, begged her to send Tom for Dr. Conroy at once.

"My dear," she said, soothingly, placing her hand on his arm as he again awoke with a nervous start, "you had better go to bed and rest, and you will feel better in the morning."

He brushed her hand from his arm with a gesture of repulsion. "Don't call me dear; I want no hypocrisy," he said, harshly.

"But you are dear; the dearest friend I have in the world," and the tears almost choked her as she spoke.

"Oh, a friend, oh!" He spoke sincerely, with a bitter laugh, the terrible laugh of a man who is not himself.

"Won't you go to bed?" she asked him, pleadingly.

"To bed?" He looked at her with his heavy eyes, from which the light of reason was fast departing. "What should I go to bed for? A business man has no time for bed snoozing. Where's my hat?" and he struggled to get away from her detaining grasp.

Happy, Dr. Conroy was near at hand, and with Mrs. Montford now appeared in the door, to Isabel's intense relief.

The doctor's experience taught him how to deal with the sick man, and he soon succeeded in getting him into bed and under the influence of powerful remedies.

"What do you think of him?" said Isabel, as she followed Dr. Conroy into the hall, her eyes moist with tears, and a heart sinking with apprehension.

"He is a very sick man, Mrs. Falconer," he replied, gravely; "it would be a useless kindness to pretend any thing else. He shows every indication of having entered a fierce struggle for life, and all we can do is to hope and pray for the best," and pressing her hand in his with unspoken sympathy, he turned and left her, the hot tears streaming from her eyes and her heart lifted in prayer as it never had been before for help in this her hour of urgent need.

CHAPTER X.

In the following weeks Isabel had need of all her firmness and presence of mind, for, as Dr. Conroy had said, there was a prolonged struggle for life in the sick room; the first week had been one of delirious raving, and her heart sank within her as she repeatedly heard him muttering: "She does not love me; she does not love me."

In such sad tones that it pierced her very heart.

She knew her own heart now fully; in those terrible nights of watching, when she had sat beside him, breathless with fear and suspense, the thought had come to her in all its chilling force—that what life would be to her without him, and she knew that she loved him with a deep devotion which would last through eternity.

She told him so again and again, as she knelt by his bedside, but he only looked at her with a blank stare, not comprehending or caring for the intelligence which would have made him so happy in life.

She kissed his fevered face and bathed it in tears of contrition as she besought the answer she had given him in that last moment of partial sanity, when he had asked her if she loved him. And yet, how could she have answered him differently, without being sure of her own feelings.

Mrs. Montford had brought her skill and experience into the sick-room at once, scornful Dr. Conroy's proposition to install a hired nurse there, and had shared the young wife's vigil with unwearied devotion.

Gracie wandered through the house disconsolately, and even Lottie's unvarying sweetness and care could not console her for the loss of her parents' society. A telegram had been sent to Mrs. Stanford at the first, and as Isabel was sitting one day in the darkened chamber, her hands clasped over her face in deepest dejection, the door opened and a light step entered the room.

A pair of soft arms stole around her neck, and Isabel began to look forward to her Southern trip with happy anticipations.

Mr. Falconer had written to Mrs. Stanford explaining their reasons for the change in their plans, and had received from her hearty congratulations and commendation of the proposed visit.

The time was now near at hand, and the preparations nearly completed for the trip, when Mr. Falconer came home with a deeply flushed face, and with a wild, restless look in his eyes, very unusual with him; for some days past Isabel had noticed that he did not seem in his usual spirits, but had attributed the fact to some slight indisposition.

"Are you sick, Mr. Falconer?" she said, in alarm, as he sat looking moodily into the fire; it was now November.

"I do not know," he replied, passing his hand over his forehead wearily. "I have had a headache for several days, and it feels so strange to-day; as if there were a bumble-bee in it."

"Let me bathe it for you," she said, bringing a bottle of cologne.

She stood by his side and bathed his head in the refreshing liquid until he fell into a restless slumber, and she noted that his breathing was hurried and uneven.

"It is a severe cold he has taken," she whispered to herself, endeavoring to quiet her own uneasiness; his entrance into his home was always so genial and kindly that she was the more alarmed by this strange, moody arrival.

He awoke with a start. "Where am I?" he cried, wildly.

"Here, my husband, at home," she replied, gently.

"Oh! yes, at home; home is where love is, Isabel," he cried, more wildly than he had yet spoken, "do you love me? I have loved you with all the strength of my strong manhood, and waited patiently for your love."

In her terror and excitement Isabel's inherent truthfulness was still predominant, and she answered him gently: "You wish me to tell you the truth, do you not?"

"Yes, yes, the truth," he said, fretfully.

"Then I will say that I do not know," she answered, still smoothing his hair and brow with her white hand; "my feelings are so mingled with gratitude and respect that I actually can not tell whether love has entered into my heart or not. I honor and respect you above all men, my husband."

"Yes, always honor and respect," he muttered, irritably, in a tone so foreign to any that he had ever used toward her that her alarm increased every moment; "respect and gratitude, but no love," and even as he spoke he settled back into a doze.

Isabel flew to the hall, and calling Mrs. Montford, begged her to send Tom for Dr. Conroy at once.

"My dear," she said, soothingly, placing her hand on his arm as he again awoke with a nervous start, "you had better go to bed and rest, and you will feel better in the morning."

He brushed her hand from his arm with a gesture of repulsion. "Don't call me dear; I want no hypocrisy," he said, harshly.

"But you are dear; the dearest friend I have in the world," and the tears almost choked her as she spoke.

"Oh, a friend, oh!" He spoke sincerely, with a bitter laugh, the terrible laugh of a man who is not himself.

"Won't you go to bed?" she asked him, pleadingly.

"To bed?" He looked at her with his heavy eyes, from which the light of reason was fast departing. "What should I go to bed for? A business man has no time for bed snoozing. Where's my hat?" and he struggled to get away from her detaining grasp.

Happy, Dr. Conroy was near at hand, and with Mrs. Montford now appeared in the door, to Isabel's intense relief.

The doctor's experience taught him how to deal with the sick man, and he soon succeeded in getting him into bed and under the influence of powerful remedies.

"What do you think of him?" said Isabel, as she followed Dr. Conroy into the hall, her eyes moist with tears, and a heart sinking with apprehension.

"He is a very sick man, Mrs. Falconer," he replied, gravely; "it would be a useless kindness to pretend any thing else. He shows every indication of having entered a fierce struggle for life, and all we can do is to hope and pray for the best," and pressing her hand in his with unspoken sympathy, he turned and left her, the hot tears streaming from her eyes and her heart lifted in prayer as it never had been before for help in this her hour of urgent need.

CHAPTER X.

In the following weeks Isabel had need of all her firmness and presence of mind, for, as Dr. Conroy had said, there was a prolonged struggle for life in the sick room; the first week had been one of delirious raving, and her heart sank within her as she repeatedly heard him muttering: "She does not love me; she does not love me."

In such sad tones that it pierced her very heart.

She knew her own heart now fully; in those terrible nights of watching, when she had sat beside him, breathless with fear and suspense, the thought had come to her in all its chilling force—that what life would be to her without him, and she knew that she loved him with a deep devotion which would last through eternity.

She told him so again and again, as she knelt by his bedside, but he only looked at her with a blank stare, not comprehending or caring for the intelligence which would have made him so happy in life.

She kissed his fevered face and bathed it in tears of contrition as she besought the answer she had given him in that last moment of partial sanity, when he had asked her if she loved him. And yet, how could she have answered him differently, without being sure of her own feelings.

Mrs. Montford had brought her skill and experience into the sick-room at once, scornful Dr. Conroy's proposition to install a hired nurse there, and had shared the young wife's vigil with unwearied devotion.

Gracie wandered through the house disconsolately, and even Lottie's unvarying sweetness and care could not console her for the loss of her parents' society. A telegram had been sent to Mrs. Stanford at the first, and as Isabel was sitting one day in the darkened chamber, her hands clasped over her face in deepest dejection, the door opened and a light step entered the room.

A pair of soft arms stole around her neck, and Isabel began to look forward to her Southern trip with happy anticipations.

Mr. Falconer had written to Mrs. Stanford explaining their reasons for the change in their plans, and had received from her hearty congratulations and commendation of the proposed visit.

The time was now near at hand, and the preparations nearly completed for the trip, when Mr. Falconer came home with a deeply flushed face, and with a wild, restless look in his eyes, very unusual with him; for some days past Isabel had noticed that he did not seem in his usual spirits, but had attributed the fact to some slight indisposition.

"Are you sick, Mr. Falconer?" she said, in alarm, as he sat looking moodily into the fire; it was now November.

"I do not know," he replied, passing his hand over his forehead wearily. "I have had a headache for several days, and it feels so strange to-day; as if there were a bumble-bee in it."

"Let me bathe it for you," she said, bringing a bottle of cologne.

She stood by his side and bathed his head in the refreshing liquid until he fell into a restless slumber, and she noted that his breathing was hurried and uneven.

"It is a severe cold he has taken," she whispered to herself, endeavoring to quiet her own uneasiness; his entrance into his home was always so genial and kindly that she was the more alarmed by this strange, moody arrival.

He awoke with a start. "Where am I?" he cried, wildly.

"Here, my husband, at home," she replied, gently.

"Oh! yes, at home; home is where love is, Isabel," he cried, more wildly than he had yet spoken, "do you love me? I have loved you with all the strength of my strong manhood, and waited patiently for your love."

In her terror and excitement Isabel's inherent truthfulness was still predominant, and she answered him gently: "You wish me to tell you the truth, do you not?"

"Yes, yes, the truth," he said, fretfully.

"Then I will say that I do not know," she answered, still smoothing his hair and brow with her white hand; "my feelings are so mingled with gratitude and respect that I actually can not tell whether love has entered into my heart or not. I honor and respect you above all men, my husband."

"Yes, always honor and respect," he muttered, irritably, in a tone so foreign to any that he had ever used toward her that her alarm increased every moment; "respect and gratitude, but no love," and even as he spoke he settled back into a doze.

Isabel flew to the hall, and calling Mrs. Montford, begged her to send Tom for Dr. Conroy at once.

"My dear," she said, soothingly, placing her hand on his arm as he again awoke with a nervous start, "you had better go to bed and rest, and you will feel better in the morning."

He brushed her hand from his arm with a gesture of repulsion. "Don't call me dear; I want no hypocrisy," he said, harshly.

"But you are dear; the dearest friend I have in the world," and the tears almost choked her as she spoke.

"Oh, a friend, oh!" He spoke sincerely, with a bitter laugh, the terrible laugh of a man who is not himself.

"Won't you go to bed?" she asked him, pleadingly.

"To bed?" He looked at her with his heavy eyes, from which the light of reason was fast departing. "What should I go to bed for? A business man has no time for bed snoozing. Where's my hat?" and he struggled to get away from her detaining grasp.

Mr. Falconer had written to Mrs. Stanford explaining their reasons for the change in their plans, and had received from her hearty congratulations and commendation of the proposed visit.

The time was now near at hand, and the preparations nearly completed for the trip, when Mr. Falconer came home with a deeply flushed face, and with a wild, restless look in his eyes, very unusual with him; for some days past Isabel had noticed that he did not seem in his usual spirits, but had attributed the fact to some slight indisposition.

"Are you sick, Mr. Falconer?" she said, in alarm, as he sat looking moodily into the fire; it was now November.

"I do not know," he replied, passing his hand over his forehead wearily. "I have had a headache for several days, and it feels so strange to-day; as if there were a bumble-bee in it."

"Let me bathe it for you," she said, bringing a bottle of cologne.

She stood by his side and bathed his head in the refreshing liquid until he fell into a restless slumber, and she noted that his breathing was hurried and uneven.

MEANS BUSINESS.

LANDRETH'S Garden Seeds, fresh and genuine. A. R. Penny.

WATCHES and jewelry repaired and warranted. A. R. Penny.

The best place to buy drugs, patent medicines and toilet articles is at A. R. Penny's.

Buy your school books, ink, tablets, paper, pencils and school supplies of all kinds from A. R. Penny.

PERSONAL POINTS.

MR. JOHN W. WHITT, of Liberty, has been granted a pension.

MISS ROSA TURLEY, of Richmond, is with Mrs. W. H. Sparks.

MRS. EMMA FIFE, of Richmond, is visiting Mrs. P. P. Nunnelle.

MISS MITTIE CROW is visiting her uncle, R. H. Crow, at Horse Cave.

MISS JESSIE AND MAGGIE DODDS, of Danville, are visiting Mrs. A. A. Warren.

MR. S. S. MYERS went to Covington yesterday to attend the burial of Mrs. E. H. Stallcup.

MR. S. W. GIVENS has gone up to spend a few weeks at Green Briar Dripping Springs.

MISS GEORGIA LEWIS spent a few days with Mrs. W. H. Higgins, en route home from Somerset.

MRS. SARAH WELCH and daughter, Miss Allene, of Nicholasville, are visiting Mrs. J. E. Portman.

CAPT. GEO. H. MCKINNEY has been granted a pension of $25 a month and arrears of over $1,000.

DR. R. C. MORGAN has been attending the 20th annual meeting of the Kentucky dentists at Louisville.

C. T. SANDIDGE went to Bowling Green yesterday to look at some fine horse stock with the view of purchasing.

MISS MARY NELL, a lovely and beautiful young lady of Columbia, is visiting Miss Gertrude Grady, at Dr. Cox's.

CAPT. WM. FIELD, of the Greensburg Branch, has been putting in some mighty fine time with his best girl here.

MISS KITTIE BAUGHMAN has returned from a visit to Boyle, accompanied by Miss Debra Baughman, who is now her guest.

MR. J. P. SPOONMORE is very ill at Buena Vista, Garrard county, and his brother, A. L. Spoonmore, has gone to attend him.

MESSRS. ROBT. MCALISTER and Daniel Stagg, Jr., left Wednesday for Mill Springs to spend a week fishing in the Cumberland.

BRENT K. YATES, a son of Dr. Lee R. Yates, is one of the graduates at Hiawatha, Kas. Academy this year, the commencement of which will occur June 11.

MRS. M. D. HARDIN and Mrs. R. W. Oatts, of Monticello, and Mr. and Mrs. S. C. Hardin, of Albany, are visiting Mr. Mark Hardin and the family of Mr. Geo. D. Wearin.

SEPT. J. I. MCKINNEY, of the Mobile & Montgomery Division, L. & N., after attending the meeting of superintendents at Louisville, ran up to Stanford to see his homefolks.

We met Miss Mary Myers, of Millersburg Female College, on the train and expressed surprise that she should be leaving as the college exercises were going on. She said: "I am called off by the serious illness of a relative, Col. Win. Howard, of Batavia, O."—Paris Kentuckian.

MR. CHARLES A. KREMER and Mrs. C. W. Kremer, his daughter-in-law, will leave on the 15th of June on a tour thro France, England, Germany, Switzerland, Italy and Austria. Mr. Kremer goes in pursuit of health.—New Albany, Ind., Ledger. Mrs. Kremer was formerly Miss Lida Harris, of this place, and her friends will be delighted to hear of her good fortune in taking so grand a trip.

CITY AND VICINITY.

I HAVE a pistol, which the owner can get by describing. O. J. Newland, Marshal.

A LECTURE on temperance by the rising young orator, Mr. Charles E. Powell, will vary the monotony of next county court day.

BOLD THEFT.—S. C. Hardin, Esq., tells us that a thief opened the safe of W. F. Harrison, a merchant at Albany, in broad daylight and got off with $142, leaving no clue as to his identity.

WILLIS GRIFFIN was arrested Tuesday, charged with maliciously cutting and wounding Hannah Garvin, a colored prostitute. He was tried before Judge Carson and held in $100 for unlawful cutting.

The women are between the devil and the deep blue sea. If they refuse to tell the census man whether or not they are bow-legged it will be taken for granted that they are. Many a little fib will therefore result from the very superfluous question.

MRS. W. B. HAWKINS' select school at Glen Elder, near Moreland, will close on the 11th with appropriate exercises from 10 to 12. The remainder of the day will be spent in pic-nicking and a nice dinner will be spread in the grounds, prepared by the pupils of the school, assisted by the teachers.

Buy wire screens for doors and windows of Sine & Menefee. 4t

I OFFER a reward for the return of my spectacles lost recently. Mrs. Susan Harris.

STRAWBERRIES are down to 50 cents a gallon now and editors and other poor folks are at last in the swim.

HORSE TIMERS, finely adjusted movements, a specialty. Call and see them. I carry them in stock. Robert Fenzel.

SEVERAL pieces of jewelry were found in the Opera House after the 10.3. The fair owners can get them by calling at this office.

THE Central University Commencement will occur June 8-11, with the oratorical contest on the 10th. There are eight graduates.

THE mayor very considerably ordered on an extra policeman to preserve order Wednesday night, but fortunately his services were not needed.

SHERIFF PEARL, of Laurel, lodged David Fuson, the Whitley county man recently convicted at London and sentenced to 21 years, in jail here Wednesday. Fuson has appealed and he was brought here for safe-keeping pending action in the case.

SOME parties, supposed to be Danville boys, shot a dog belonging to Uriah Bright about 5 o'clock Wednesday morning and also fired at a flock of sheep belonging to Elder Ballou. A strong effort will be made to bring the guilty rascals to punishment and their names into the odium they deserve.

PROF. R. L. PULLIAM sends us a "beat programme of the commencement exercises of the Preparatory Department of Central University, which will occur today at 10 o'clock. There will be 10 declaimers in the contest and a spirited time is expected. Among the marshals of the senior division we notice the names of O. L. and F. W. Jones, of this county.

ONE NIGHT.—Owing to the continued illness of Miss Laura McAnally, who is suffering greatly from inflammatory rheumatism, and has required the almost constant attention of Mrs. Hubbard and the other teachers, Prof. J. M. Hubbard has decided to condense the two nights' commencement exercises of the College into one night. They will be held Friday night and begin promptly at 8 o'clock.

C. R. R.—President H. E. Huntington, of the Kentucky Central, and Engineer Randolph, of the same road, arrived Monday night and started over the survey of the Cumberland River railroad Tuesday morning, accompanied by Mess. D. W. Vandever, W. H. Miller and J. E. Bruce. Mr. Huntington is very much pleased with the looks of the profile and rather intimated that if he found the road could be built as cheaply as Capt. W. H. Spradlin estimates, he will build it. It would give him a Southern outlet more than 100 miles shorter than now exists and would open up a market at Nashville for our people where wheat, hay and other products sell at greatly increased prices over Louisville and Cincinnati. We hope to be able before many issues to announce that Mr. Huntington has undertaken the building of the road, for if he does it will be pushed to completion as rapidly as the vast resources at his command will do it.

MATRIMONIAL MATTERS.

—Ellis Yocum, 21, and Miss Lucy Walls, a wee maiden of 14, obtained license and were married at the bride's mother's on Green river yesterday.

—The marriage of Mr. J. W. Duncan, of Nicholasville, to Miss Lelia, the beautiful and cultivated daughter of Dr. Geo. Perkins, of Somerset, was solemnized in a becoming manner yesterday.

—It will be something of a surprise to the many friends of Miss Julia Tapp to hear that her engagement is announced to Mr. Joseph A. Craft. The wedding will take place June 11.—Louisville Post

—Miss Mary Gwendolin Cardwell, who was engaged to but refused to marry Prince Murat, of France, has returned to this country pretty well satisfied that it is best to put no confidence in princes.

—Francis Murphy, the temperance apostle, will shortly wed Mrs. Rebekah Fisher, a beautiful and wealthy widow of Council Bluffs, Iowa. They met last winter at a series of meetings in that place. Murphy is a widower and 55. Mrs. Fisher is an accomplished lady and a leader in church circles.

—Mr. Clement B. Johnston, the popular representative of Johnston Bros. & Co., Louisville, was married Wednesday to Miss Lula Johnston, of Campbells, ville, the ceremony occurring in the Methodist church. Mr. Johnston has a great many friends in Stanford who with one accord wish him bon voyage on the sea of matrimony.

—Miss ROSE DRYE, daughter of Mr. Stephen Drye, of this county, and a very handsome and highly accomplished young lady, was married in Louisville, Wednesday, to Mr. Will P. Swope, formerly of the Custom House force, but now a resident of Owen county, where he is the democratic nominee for county clerk. Miss Rose's friends hereabouts send happy greetings and congratulations.

—The Tennessee prohibitionists have nominated a preacher for governor.

—The death of Samuel Givens Kennedy, which has been expected for some time, occurred at the home of his father, E. D. Kennedy, Wednesday night, aged 22 years. The funeral will be held at his home to-day at 2 o'clock, after which the remains will be taken to the Hustonville cemetery. Mr. Kennedy was a member of the Presbyterian church and a model young man, loved by his associates and idolized by his parents, who are crushed with grief over his untimely end. May God give them consolation and a heart to say He doeth all things well.

CHURCH AFFAIRS.

—The general Association of Kentucky Baptists will meet at Owensboro, June 19, and will be in session several days.

—Rev. H. P. Walker, who was elected editor of the new paper to be started at San Francisco by the Southern Methodists, was formerly presiding elder of the Lexington district.

—Rev. W. Y. Sheppard preached an interesting discourse at the College Chapel Tuesday night on the subject of the Trinity. He will be with us again the last Sunday night in this month.

—The Moreland Methodists are making great preparations for the dedication of the new church next Sunday. Rev. H. C. Morrison will officiate and there will be morning and afternoon services with a basket dinner on the grounds.

—Rev. John O. Rust, an eloquent divine, who has had charge of the Baptist church of Hopkinsville for some time, has been unanimously called by the McFerran Memorial church, at Louisville, as pastor. He was formerly editor of the New Era, now reformed.

—"The Come-outs" is the name of a new religious sect recently started at Mt. Carmel. They want all the good members of the church to come out from among the "black sheep of the flock." We fear the "Come-outs" will never amount to anything numerically speaking.

—Elder J. S. Sweeney, the distinguished pastor of the Paris Christian church, makes it a rule to have no service when a new preacher comes to town, but with his congregation goes to hear the new man. Last Sunday, according to custom, he welcomed the Episcopal preacher in this way.

FARM AND TRADE ITEMS.

—English Lady won the Latonia Oaks, 1 1/2 miles, in 2:08 1/4.

—A fine Jersey cow for sale. Good milker. T. J. Hatcher.

—WANTED.—100,000 pounds of wool. A. T. Nunnelle, Stanford.

—Milk cow for sale, with or without calf. James Williman, McKinney, Ky.

—The Miller estimates that there are 16,000 flour mills in the United States.

—The English Derby, worth 5,800 sovereigns, was won by Sanfoin, against whom the betting stood 7 to 1.

—Stockmen and others will bear in mind that the Lincoln county court has been changed from the 1st to the 2d Monday of each month. The next court will therefore be held Monday, June 9th.

—J. H. Gentry sold to Doak Denhan, of London, a pair of registered Berkshire pigs for $50. E. W. Lee bought of parties in Anderson county 300 head of export cattle at 4 to 4 1/2 cents.—Danville Advocate.

—Nothing but the great spread of fine cattle can account for the small prices given at the sale of Lord Falmouth's herd of Devons, one of the finest. Only $800 was bid for the bull that has won the Royal Agricultural Society's prize three times hand running.

LOGANS CREEK.—Rogues have been bothering Mr. B. W. Gaines considerably this week. Tuesday night they visited his poultry-yard and took about 20 chickens, frying size, and a cap of honey which was near by. A few nights since they captured 5 or 6 lambs, which would weigh about 85 pounds. The next thing they capture will be a bullet. Mr. Gaines has sold his lambs, about 200, to Woodcock & Owens, of Danville, to be delivered next week, at 5 1/2 per pound. We are glad to learn that our young friend, Thomas Dudderar, is convalescing from a spell of typhoid fever. E. B. Beazley came home from Middlesboro Saturday and will return in a few days. John O'Conner, of Harrodsburg, was on the Creek Sunday. Mrs. C. C. Hewitt, of Somerset, is visiting her mother, Mrs. Joe Rout. Mrs. Ben Gaines was called to Shelbyville Saturday to attend the bedside of her daughter, Mrs. W. T. Weakley, who is quite ill with typhoid fever. Mr. and Mrs. Daniel J. Wease, of White county, Ill., are visiting the family of W. E. Amon. Several of our boys attended the musical and commencement exercises at Lancaster Tuesday and Wednesday nights and reported it grand. Miss Cora Broadbuss, of Richmond, and Miss Lizzie Hoeker, of Danville, are expected Friday to visit Miss Malissa Adams.

Mr. Carlisle has written a letter to the Farmers' Alliance of Alabama on the subject of the bill providing for government warehouses in which farmers may store their products and receive receipts for the same, the government to hold the products for a rise in the market, in the course of which he says: "But the farmers have been taxed so long for the benefit of other classes and have seen so much legislation for the aggrandizement of corporations and syndicates that their patience is exhausted, and, finding it impossible, for the time being, at least, to abolish the system which has oppressed and despoiled the greatest industrial interest of the country, they are now demanding that the very policy which they have heretofore denounced as unjust and ruinous shall be applied to them, or rather a part of them, for no scheme has yet been suggested that operates alike upon all farmers. But no evil can be corrected, no wrong can be righted by increasing its magnitude and extending the scope of its operations. There is but one effectual remedy for the evil which undoubtedly exists, and that is to reverse the policy which produced it."

NEW ADVERTISEMENTS

FOR RENT.

The lease to the "Old Dripping Springs"

Having expired, formerly occupied by Mr. D. G. Slaughter, I will rent rooms to families by the week, as heretofore. First call, first choice.

Mrs. MARY BELLE ADAMS.

NOTICE.

We are standing the Clark Cash horse at our stable at McKinney at

$10 to Insure a Living Colt

He is well bred and a No. 1 foal getter. Money due when mare is parted with or bred to another horse. Lien retained on all colts till money is paid.

DUNN & TANNER.

HOTEL, & C., FOR RENT.

I offer for rent privately my brick Hotel of 10 rooms at Rowland, my Saloon over which there are seven rooms, and my "barber shop." They can either be gotten as a whole or I will rent them separately. There is also a small stable attached, suitable for a livery. I will sell a portion of the furniture or all as may be desired. The property is new throughout and the situation very desirable. There is a good cistern at kitchen door.

T. L. SHELTON, Rowland, Ky.

Dr. A. S. PRICE,

SURGEON DENTIST.

Office on Main street, over W. B. McRoberts' Drug Store, Stanford.

J. J. ALLEN.

B. F. ATWOOD

ALLEN & ATWOOD,

REAL ESTATE AGENTS.

Johnson City, Tenn.

Notice.

All parties knowing themselves to be indebted to the estate of C. K. Harris, dec'd., will please settle same at once, and all parties having claims against it will present them properly proven to the undersigned, within the next 30 days.

S. T. HARRIS, Admr.

Harvesting Machines For Sale.

I have for sale at Foster's warehouse one Wood Binder, one Buckeye Mower and two Hay Rakes, all comparatively new. One of the Rakes is a 2-horse Rake, carries the hay from the swath to the stack without shocking. I will sell them all low.

T. J. FOSTER, Stanford.

COMMISSIONER'S SALE.

Lincoln Circuit Court. Nichols & Schepard, Plffs., vs. S. E. Arnold, Deft. Sale in Equity.

By virtue of a judgment of the Lincoln Circuit Court rendered in the above styled case at its March term, 1890, I will on Monday, June 9th, 1890,

At 11 o'clock a. m., or thereabout, being the first day of the June term of the Lincoln County Court, before the court-house in Stanford, Ky., sell to the highest bidder at public outcry the following described property to-wit, or so much thereof as may be necessary to pay said plaintiff's debt of $1,200.10 with 6 per cent. interest thereon from May 25th 1887, until June 9, 1890, and $50 probable costs of this action, amounting to about $1,250.00.

First, a Tract of Land, situated in Lincoln Co., Ky., on the waters of Fishing Creek, and adjoining the lands of W. G. Reynolds, Eulankes, &c., and contains 13 1/2 Acres more or less.

Second, a Tract of Land containing 10 Acres, 1 Rod and 10 Poles, but reserving a road one rod wide on S. E. corner to stake corner. Said land or second tract adjoins the lands of J. S. Hendricks, &c. and is also on the waters of Fishing Creek in said county and State.

Said sale will be made on a credit of six, twelve and eighteen months. Bonds required of the purchasers with approved personal security and bearing interest at the rate of 6 per cent. per annum from date until paid, with a lien upon the land until all of the purchase money is paid and having the force and effect of a judgment.

G. M. DAVIS, JR., Master Com'r Lincoln Circuit Court.

R. B. GEOGEGHAN,

SUCCESSOR TO

MICHAEL, THE HATTER,

511 4TH AVENUE.

LOUISVILLE, KENTUCKY.

The Nobbiest & Most Stylish

HATS,

Ever brought to the city of Louisville, now open including the world-renowned

KNOX & JOHN B. STETSON & CO'S HATS

And also my own importation of English Hats and Caps. An elegant line of Cane and Lyon's Celebrated Umbrellas always on hand. Fine

SEAL SKIN SACQUES, CAPS,

Gloves and other Furs, a specialty. Orders outside of city solicited, perfect satisfaction guaranteed. Don't fail to order a NOBBY HAT

WHAT

SCOTT'S

EMULSION

CURES

Consumption

SCROFULA

BRONCHITIS

COUGHS

COLD

Wasting Diseases

Wonderful Flesh Producer.

Many have gained one pound per day by its use.

Scott's Emulsion is not a secret remedy. It contains the stimulating properties of the Hypophosphites and pure Norwegian Cod Liver Oil, the potency of both being largely increased. It is used by Physicians all over the world.

PALATABLE AS MILK.

Sold by all Druggists.

SCOTT & BOWNE, Chemists, N.Y.

AM READY FOR BUSINESS.

My stock of Watches, Clocks and Jewelry are now on exhibition. The stock is new, of the latest styles and of the very best quality to be found.

Call and see it before buying elsewhere. All work WARRANTED to give satisfaction or money refunded. Fine watch repairing a specialty.

ROBT. FENZEL.

H. C. RUPLEY,

Merchant Tailor,

Is Receiving His

SPRING AND SUMMER GOODS.

Goods Warranted and a Perfect Fit Guaranteed. Give him a call.

HIGGINS & M'KINNEY

Are headquarters for

Hardware, Croceries, Stoves, Salt, Lime, &c.

Plows! Plows! Plows! Buy the Oliver Chill or Hamilton Steel

Plow and you will make no mistake. No plow is equal to those; no plow ever had the run that the Oliver has. Every plow warranted to do good work, or no sale. Ask your neighbor.

.....GO TO.....

A. A. WARREN'S

"MODEL GROCERY"

For Garden Hoes, Rakes, Spading Forks

And Spades;

Northern Seed Irish Potatoes, Red & White Onion

Sets, Peas and Beans in bulk. Also a full stock of Landreth's, D. M. Ferry & Co.'s and Crossman's Garden Seeds in papers.

NOTICE.

Having secured the services of

MR. THOS. DALTON, OF CHICAGO,

I am now fully prepared to do

ALL KINDS OF WATCH WORK

.....AND.....

FINE ENGRAVING

All work warranted and promptly done.

A. R. PENNY.

DRUGS and JEWELRY

Drugs, Books and Stationery, Paints, Oils and Window Glass, Wall Paper, Fine Cigars and Tobaccos, Watches, Clocks, Jewelry and Silverware.

HAMPDEN WATCH,

The Best Railroad Watch.

Prompt Attention given to Engraving and Repairing of Watches, Clocks and Jewelry.

Watches completely demagnetized in fifteen minutes.

B. H. DANKS, Jeweler, W. L. L. & N.

W. B. McROBERTS,

Main Street, Opp. Court-House, STANFORD, Ky.

DR. ELLIOTT'S

MEDICATED FOOD,

A Sure Cure for all Diseases in

HORSES,

Cattle, Sheep and Hogs

Arising from Impurities of the Blood, and from Functional Derangements.

A DEAD SHOT ON WORMS, AND A CERTAIN

PREVENTION OF HOG CHOLERA.

For sale by A. R. Penny, Druggist, Stanford; W. C. Bailey, General Merchandise, Turnersville; N. & B. Jones, Mt. Salem; W. L. McCarry, Druggist, Kingsville; C. C. Gooch & Co., Waynesburg; W. B. McPherson, Rowland; J. F. Routen, Druggist, Milledgeville; F. Arthur Zeller, Druggist, Crab Orchard; W. H. Cummings, General Merchandise, Preachersville; J. A. Williams, Druggist, McKinney; C. H. Baker, General Merchandise, Highland.

BRYANT & STRATTON BUSINESS COLLEGE

PETIT JURY DECISIONS.

That They Are Fearfully and Wonderfully Made the Following Shows.

The old saying that there is no telling what a petit jury will do is borne out in the following anecdote related by Ambrose H. Purdy, commissioner of the fire department of New York. "When Recorder Smyth and I were assistant United States district attorneys," said he, "a complaint was brought against the collector of the port about some import duties. The jury was impaneled with celebrity and we got down to work. The trial went on for three weeks. Both sides talked and argued and cited authorities and finally summed up. The judge charged the jury and they retired. After several hours of mature deliberation they announced that they had arrived at a decision, and were ushered into court. The clerk asked if they had agreed on a verdict, and the foreman replied that they had found for the defendant. Although it is not customary, still it is not an exceptional thing for the losing side to ask the court to have the jury polled. In this instance counsel asked that it be done. The clerk put the usual question to the foreman and received an affirmative answer, and so on down to the eighth juror. He sat looking stolidly before him and didn't answer when his name was called. He was a German, and the clerk asked in a louder tone if that was his verdict. No answer. Then he thundered out and again no answer. At this juncture the foreman rose with a most urbane manner and addressed the court: 'If your honor please,' he said, 'the eighth juror does not understand a word of English, so we did not consult him at all in making up our verdict.' How he got on the jury was never explained."

FEMALE PROGRESS.

A Young Woman Qualifies for the Responsible Position of Pilot.

A very pretty young lady sat in the office of the United States inspectors of steam vessels yesterday afternoon, says the Boston Herald. She was handsomely dressed in black silk, wore a becoming toque and a smile which carried the veteran inspector, Andrew Burnham, back one hundred years or more to the days of his youth. Major Copeland, the genial clerk of the board, in his anxiety to do honor to his illustrious visitor, swallowed an extra clove and nearly strangled. The lady was present on business, and that business was the procuring of a license as a pilot for the steam yacht Isis. Captain Burnham was willing if she knew her "biz," but he first sent her to the surgeon's office in the custom-house to be examined for color blindness. Of course she passed. She then returned to the inspector's office for examination as to her fitness to hold the position of pilot of steam yachts. She knew all about por, and starboard, cross signals, rules of the road, etc., and was given a special license as pilot of the good steam yacht Isis. The blank filled out by the United States surveyor gives the following description of Mrs. Poole, the first woman ever licensed by the board of steam vessel inspectors on the New England coast: "Name of pilot, Miss E. Poole; age, 24 years; nativity, N. H.; complexion, light; height, 5 feet 2 inches; color of eyes, blue; color of hair, brown." In her application, Mrs. Poole states that she had two years' experience on the steam yacht Nollie. "She is a dandy," said Major Copeland, as he handed her a license filled out with more than usual care.

MONON ROUTE

LOUISVILLE, NEW ALBANY & CHICAGO RY. CO.

A NEW FAST MAIL

Leaving both LOUISVILLE & CINCINNATI

Daily, Secures to Travelers.

THE MOST RAPID ROUTE

Ever attempted between the great commercial cities on the Ohio River and Chicago, and hence the fastest time and most comfortable trains between all points in the South, or to the West and Northwest. The counterpart of this train on all trunk lines is denominated The Limited Express. The superb rolling stock we employ gives patrons Unlimited Comfort.

Say Monon, get Monon and stick to Monon, if you want to save money and have a pleasant journey. For full information, time cards, maps, folders, etc., call on or address:

W. G. CRUSH, T. P. A., Louisville, Ky.
JAS. BARKER, G. P. A., Chicago, Ill.
Or W. R. McROBERTS, Agt., Stanford.

L. & N.

LOUISVILLE AND NASHVILLE

RAILROAD.

The Great

THROUGH TRUNK LINE.

—To The—

SOUTH & WEST

—With—

PULLMAN PALACE CARS.

Louisville

To Nashville, Memphis,

Atlanta, Montgomery,

Little Rock, Mobile and New Orleans.

Newport News & Miss. Valley Co.

Only one change to points in ARKANSAS & TEXAS.

EMIGRANTS

Seeking homes on the line of this road will receive Special Rates.

See agents of this Company for rates, routes, etc., or write to:

C. P. ATMORE, G. P. & T. A., Louisville, Ky.

A Fishing Experience Attended by Astonishing Results.

Old Crabtree, After Many Futile Struggles, Catches the Monster Which Has Laid Waste to His Lines—An Alligator Gar Nine Feet Long.

Old Crabtree, bronzed and weather-beaten by the suns and storms of five decades, was puzzled, writes a St. Louis Globe-Democrat correspondent. In all his experience of twenty years or more as a trapper, pot-hunter and fisher, he had never before met with bird, beast, fish or reptile so cunning but which he could eventually circumvent and ensnare. Despite his nomadic life and aquatic adventures, he evinced a great dislike to water, and it was indeed seldom that even a drop was applied either externally or internally to his corporeity. For over a week he had been endeavoring to catch a load of fish for a picnic, but his efforts were not successful. Every evening he would bait his hooks with shining minnows captured in a neighboring bayou, and pugnacious crawfish dragged from a prairie pond and touched up with a compound of many drugs most captivating to the hearts of the monstrous blue and yellow catfish that abound in the turbid waters of Red river. But at early dawn when he hastened to his lines he would find nothing but a few small speckled channel cats and a greater or smaller number of broken hooks. Once he got a fifty pounder, but it was so mutilated by the sharp teeth of some large fish or snail that it died immediately after being taken from the water, and so was worthless. The old man was beginning to believe his lines were bewitched, and was thinking seriously of leaving the unenviable place, when he confided his perplexities to an angler who had won his confidence by always inviting him to partake in the contents of a bottle whenever chance threw them together. The two soon evolved a scheme to capture the monster that had played such havoc on the fisherman's hooks and hopes alike.

A large center draft hook was attached to one end of about thirty feet of two-pound line, and this line was secured to a stout but elastic sapling. A small wire was then wound closely around the line from the eye of the hook up about ten inches—this to prevent the line from being bitten asunder. A half-pound bar of lead was then hammered around the line about sixteen inches from the hook, and the trap was ready.

After supper the twain wended their way to the river, baited the hook with a live two-pound carp, made their boat fast to a snag in mid-stream, partook of a little fluid refreshment and prepared for action. They had not long to wait, for suddenly the line was pulled down, as though by invisible hands, and the boat rocked over, nearly upsetting the occupants. Crabtree uttered a sharp cry for assistance and bent all his energy to holding the pole. The great fish made frantic efforts to escape, leaping clear out of the water, and falling back with a splash like a tree falling over a bluff. It tugged at the line with a long, steady pull, straining it to its utmost tension. After awhile the big fish changed its tactics and rushed at the boat with open mouth, thickly set with long, cruel teeth, but was deftly steered aside. Again it snapped its jaws in rage and renewed its efforts to escape, churning the waters with its long tail and fins.

At last the monster grew weary, and, giving up the unequal struggle, yielded to the inevitable. It was carefully drawn alongside the boat, where it lay just beneath the surface of the water, its tail gently waving to and fro. Before it got rested a rope with a running noose was slipped over its tail and up until its gills were reached, where the rope was drawn taut, after which the anglers felt sure of their game. One held the line and rope, while the other slowly and laboriously pulled ashore. The monster was dragged up on the sand-bar and examined. It was found to be an alligator gar, 9 feet 2 inches long, and weighing 102 pounds. It had four rows of long, sharp teeth, set in massive bony jaws, and was covered with a coat of mail hard enough to turn the edge of a good ax.

The Young Woman and Her Pipe.

I stepped on a Twenty-third street horse-car the other day, says a New York Star writer. It was filled with ladies, all more or less stylishly dressed. One young woman, less than twenty-five years old I should say, attracted the attention of the whole car by carrying in her lap, so that every one could see it, a pipe for smoking opium and all the paraphernalia requisite to a complete enjoyment of this luxurious custom of the Orient. The pipe itself was an exquisite piece of workmanship, and must have cost a great deal of money. The small lamp was of very rich design, in crystal and metal, and the young woman kept looking at it tenderly, as if admiring its quality. Besides these were the salver, which looked as if it were solid silver, and the opium box of the same material. How expensive this layout was I am unable to tell; but I know that its cost must have been over the $200, or even the $500 mark. It was handsomer than anything I have ever seen in that line. What curious fads our passions lead us to!

Versatility Forcible.

The Lewiston (Me.) Journal reports that there is a man living in Somerset County, who is a selectman, assessor and overseer of the poor in his town. He is school agent and highway surveyor in his school and highway district. It is said that the town pays him one dollar a day for the board of his mother-in-law, and that he has hired his own daughter for the school teacher. An ex-soldier he draws a nice sum each month as a pensioner. He carries on a farm and speculates some in farm produce and stock. He also owns a building and that is the headquarters of a poker club, and he is a leading as well as a successful member thereof. It should be added that he is a first class in Sunday-school.

MEANEST MAN ALIVE.

An Italian Who Treats the Record for Downright Stinginess.

"I have seen some stingy men while I've been in the medical profession, but the stingiest I saw occurred the other day." So spoke one of our young doctors engaged in a large dispensary connected with one of the medical schools in the city to a New York Evening Sun reporter. The doctor continued: "Much of our work is thankless enough. We experience the greatest difficulty in getting patients to take medicine as they are directed."

"They seem almost to have an idea sometimes that we ought to pay them for taking what is going to cure them. Frequently, when an interesting case comes in while a clinic is going on in college, we take it before the class and show the would-be M. D.'s the procedure taken for its relief. The case in question was that of an Italian. He came rushing in with a child about a year old in his arms. Anxiety was depicted on his countenance."

"The little thing had great difficulty in breathing, but retained breath enough to make some noise. Calming the father somewhat, we managed to learn that the child had swallowed a quarter of a dollar, which had stuck in its throat. He asked if we could get it out. We promised to do our best, and, as a clinic was in session, took the child and the father into the pit of the amphitheater. They used for these operations an instrument called a coin catcher, which is made like a crocheting needle, only the material is rubber, and the hook on the end of the instrument is longer than that of the crocheting needle. The instrument is to be passed down the throat past the coin, and when withdrawn the hook catches under the coin and it is pulled up. At last it is a difficult operation for the child will kick and squirm, and it is not without danger to the surrounding parts."

"The professor worked away, and as his efforts for a time proved unsuccessful, the anxiety on the face of the father became latent. He flitted and seemed to think of all was lost. At length the coin was extricated and the boys stamped their applause. The professor laid the coin down on the table while he washed his hands. This was the Italian's son, and while the professor's back was turned he quickly transferred the quarter to his pocket. The look of distrust was evident on his countenance."

"It became manifest that the loss of his coin had been intended with the danger of losing the child to produce his anxiety, and that he had laid it was the meanest thing I ever saw. The boys had one eye on the professor, though, when he turned and looked for the quarter, and they made the old building shake with their applause. The professor caught on and put a man to swap off the recovered quarter for another, while he exhibited it to the class."

QUEER D D-CLOTHES.

The Last the Landlord Could Do Was to Confuse the Boy Breezes.

All early Kansas and every one who traveled in the State in days gone by remember Ed Barlow, "who during the years of his prolonged life was the genial host of more hoteliers than any other man, and once famous as the landlord of the important Tott House in Topeka, whose walls, could they speak, might tell a story as thrilling if not as bloody as those of the Bastille in the time of Robespierre. In 1867, says the Kansas City Star, "Mac" was proprietor of the Marshall House in Ellsworth, then and for years afterwards the "hardest" town on the American continent. The structure was a veritable shell of lumber, its partitions thin boards reaching only half way to the roof, so that ordinary conversation in any room could be heard in any part of the wretched building. It was always crowded, however, for business in the new "city" was lively.

One night in February of 1863, when the wind was blowing fearfully, the house rocking like a ship at sea and the cold so terrible that every thing liquid on the premises was frozen solid, the snow sitting through every crevice until it banked itself in great drifts on the floor of every room, a commercial traveler who had retired early in the vain hope of keeping himself warm managed to wake the landlord by repeated pounding on the wall of his little seven-by-nine den, intending to ask for more bed clothing.

"Haven't you got more blankets, landlord?" he appealingly inquired, as Mac entered with a dim kerosene lamp in his hand. "I'm almost chilled to death."

"No," replied Mac, "I'm awful sorry; the house is jammed full and every thing is in use. But I'll see what I can do for you."

The willing landlord then went out into a wood shed, and returning in a few moments with a piece of a frozen fish-nod about three yards long but the meshes of which were four inches square, threw it over the chattering fellow with the remark: "There, that may help tangle up the wind a little—it's the best I can do," and he went out.

An Object of Contempt.

There was a very respectable old gentleman who formerly held the position of justice of the peace in one of our large cities. Going down the main street one day, one of the boys spoke to him without coming up to his honor's idea of deference. "Young man, I don't give you contempt of court," "Why, judge," said the offender, "you are not in session." "This court," responded the judge, thoroughly irritated, "is always in session, and consequently always an object of contempt."

Lawyer Beaten by a Farmer.

Seven of the supposed to be sharpest and wisest lawyers in the country have made wills, passed away, and the said wills have been broken all to finders by heirs and other lawyers. An ignorant Missouri farmer wrote his will in four lines on a slate, and it stood three lawyers and ten lawyers.

Regular Wilkes!

Dark bay, 16 hands high, weight, 1,200 pounds. Foaled June, 1885.

BY CLAY WILKES. He by George Wilkes, he by Rysdyk's Hambleton. First dam by Regular; he by Volunteer. Regular Wilkes is as fine a gelded horse as will be found in the Wilkes family. He has never been handled for speed but can go very fast. He will make the season of 1886 at my home two miles from Hovestonville on Danville pike at $10 to insure a living colt.

Lien retained on colt, till the service money is paid. Mares grazed on reasonable terms. No responsibility for accidents or escapes.

J. T. LAND, Moreland, Ky.

2 Horses and 3 Jacks.

I will stand at my stables at McKinney, the season of 1886, two Horses and three Jacks:

REUBEN VERNONT,

By Gilt's Vermont, the pedigree of dam unknown.

WATERLOO, JR.,

By Dr. P. W. Logan's Waterloo, who has a record of 2:30 and is standard bred. See pedigree of Logan's Waterloo.

Waterloo, Jr. is 1st dam by Levi Hable's old Stonewall Jackson. If you want a horse with Reuben is 16 hands high, dark bay and a fine breeder of good horses for all purposes and will stand at $10 to insure a living colt.

$6 to Insure a Mare in Foal.

Waterloo, Jr. is a very dark brown, or black, fine made Jack tail, compact, 16 hands, 16 lbs. 1 inch high, fine style and action and a fine producer of combined horses; perfectly kind in disposition and a sure foal getter. Will stand at $6 to insure a mare in foal.

$8 to Insure a Mare in Foal.

Also three good young—

JACKS ALL WELL BRED,

Two years old past, at $6, and 4-year old at $8. Season due when colts are foaled.

Mares kept on reasonable terms, but no liability for accidents.

J. W. GIVENS.

Govor's Messenger.

Bay stallion, 16 hands high, foaled April 14th 1886. His 1st dam by Gray Eagle; 2d dam by Copperbottom, &c. He was sired by Messenger Chief, Jr., by Messenger Chief, sire of Maud Messenger &c. 2d dam by Kinney, 3d dam by Maud Messenger, 4th dam by Napoleon; 5th dam by Tempest; 6th dam by Tiger; 7th dam by Darnaby; 8th dam by Cannon's Whip; 9th dam by Shipp's Paragon. Messenger Chief was sired by Abdallah Pilot, 1st dam by Maud Messenger &c. 2d dam by Maud Messenger, 3d dam by Maud Messenger, 4th dam by Maud Messenger, 5th dam by Maud Messenger, 6th dam by Maud Messenger, 7th dam by Maud Messenger, 8th dam by Maud Messenger, 9th dam by Maud Messenger, 10th dam by Maud Messenger, 11th dam by Maud Messenger, 12th dam by Maud Messenger, 13th dam by Maud Messenger, 14th dam by Maud Messenger, 15th dam by Maud Messenger, 16th dam by Maud Messenger, 17th dam by Maud Messenger, 18th dam by Maud Messenger, 19th dam by Maud Messenger, 20th dam by Maud Messenger, 21st dam by Maud Messenger, 22nd dam by Maud Messenger, 23rd dam by Maud Messenger, 24th dam by Maud Messenger, 25th dam by Maud Messenger, 26th dam by Maud Messenger, 27th dam by Maud Messenger, 28th dam by Maud Messenger, 29th dam by Maud Messenger, 30th dam by Maud Messenger, 31st dam by Maud Messenger, 32nd dam by Maud Messenger, 33rd dam by Maud Messenger, 34th dam by Maud Messenger, 35th dam by Maud Messenger, 36th dam by Maud Messenger, 37th dam by Maud Messenger, 38th dam by Maud Messenger, 39th dam by Maud Messenger, 40th dam by Maud Messenger, 41st dam by Maud Messenger, 42nd dam by Maud Messenger, 43rd dam by Maud Messenger, 44th dam by Maud Messenger, 45th dam by Maud Messenger, 46th dam by Maud Messenger, 47th dam by Maud Messenger, 48th dam by Maud Messenger, 49th dam by Maud Messenger, 50th dam by Maud Messenger, 51st dam by Maud Messenger, 52nd dam by Maud Messenger, 53rd dam by Maud Messenger, 54th dam by Maud Messenger, 55th dam by Maud Messenger, 56th dam by Maud Messenger, 57th dam by Maud Messenger, 58th dam by Maud Messenger, 59th dam by Maud Messenger, 60th dam by Maud Messenger, 61st dam by Maud Messenger, 62nd dam by Maud Messenger, 63rd dam by Maud Messenger, 64th dam by Maud Messenger, 65th dam by Maud Messenger, 66th dam by Maud Messenger, 67th dam by Maud Messenger, 68th dam by Maud Messenger, 69th dam by Maud Messenger, 70th dam by Maud Messenger, 71st dam by Maud Messenger, 72nd dam by Maud Messenger, 73rd dam by Maud Messenger, 74th dam by Maud Messenger, 75th dam by Maud Messenger, 76th dam by Maud Messenger, 77th dam by Maud Messenger, 78th dam by Maud Messenger, 79th dam by Maud Messenger, 80th dam by Maud Messenger, 81st dam by Maud Messenger, 82nd dam by Maud Messenger, 83rd dam by Maud Messenger, 84th dam by Maud Messenger, 85th dam by Maud Messenger, 86th dam by Maud Messenger, 87th dam by Maud Messenger, 88th dam by Maud Messenger, 89th dam by Maud Messenger, 90th dam by Maud Messenger, 91st dam by Maud Messenger, 92nd dam by Maud Messenger, 93rd dam by Maud Messenger, 94th dam by Maud Messenger, 95th dam by Maud Messenger, 96th dam by Maud Messenger, 97th dam by Maud Messenger, 98th dam by Maud Messenger, 99th dam by Maud Messenger, 100th dam by Maud Messenger, 101st dam by Maud Messenger, 102nd dam by Maud Messenger, 103rd dam by Maud Messenger, 104th dam by Maud Messenger, 105th dam by Maud Messenger, 106th dam by Maud Messenger, 107th dam by Maud Messenger, 108th dam by Maud Messenger, 109th dam by Maud Messenger, 110th dam by Maud Messenger, 111th dam by Maud Messenger, 112th dam by Maud Messenger, 113th dam by Maud Messenger, 114th dam by Maud Messenger, 115th dam by Maud Messenger, 116th dam by Maud Messenger, 117th dam by Maud Messenger, 118th dam by Maud Messenger, 119th dam by Maud Messenger, 120th dam by Maud Messenger, 121st dam by Maud Messenger, 122nd dam by Maud Messenger, 123rd dam by Maud Messenger, 124th dam by Maud Messenger, 125th dam by Maud Messenger, 126th dam by Maud Messenger, 127th dam by Maud Messenger, 128th dam by Maud Messenger, 129th dam by Maud Messenger, 130th dam by Maud Messenger, 131st dam by Maud Messenger, 132nd dam by Maud Messenger, 133rd dam by Maud Messenger, 134th dam by Maud Messenger, 135th dam by Maud Messenger, 136th dam by Maud Messenger, 137th dam by Maud Messenger, 138th dam by Maud Messenger, 139th dam by Maud Messenger, 140th dam by Maud Messenger, 141st dam by Maud Messenger, 142nd dam by Maud Messenger, 143rd dam by Maud Messenger, 144th dam by Maud Messenger, 145th dam by Maud Messenger, 146th dam by Maud Messenger, 147th dam by Maud Messenger, 148th dam by Maud Messenger, 149th dam by Maud Messenger, 150th dam by Maud Messenger, 151st dam by Maud Messenger, 152nd dam by Maud Messenger, 153rd dam by Maud Messenger, 154th dam by Maud Messenger, 155th dam by Maud Messenger, 156th dam by Maud Messenger, 157th dam by Maud Messenger, 158th dam by Maud Messenger, 159th dam by Maud Messenger, 160th dam by Maud Messenger, 161st dam by Maud Messenger, 162nd dam by Maud Messenger, 163rd dam by Maud Messenger, 164th dam by Maud Messenger, 165th dam by Maud Messenger, 166th dam by Maud Messenger, 167th dam by Maud Messenger, 168th dam by Maud Messenger, 169th dam by Maud Messenger, 170th dam by Maud Messenger, 171st dam by Maud Messenger, 172nd dam by Maud Messenger, 173rd dam by Maud Messenger, 174th dam by Maud Messenger, 175th dam by Maud Messenger, 176th dam by Maud Messenger, 177th dam by Maud Messenger, 178th dam by Maud Messenger, 179th dam by Maud Messenger, 180th dam by Maud Messenger, 181st dam by Maud Messenger, 182nd dam by Maud Messenger, 183rd dam by Maud Messenger, 184th dam by Maud Messenger, 185th dam by Maud Messenger, 186th dam by Maud Messenger, 187th dam by Maud Messenger, 188th dam by Maud Messenger, 189th dam by Maud Messenger, 190th dam by Maud Messenger, 191st dam by Maud Messenger, 192nd dam by Maud Messenger, 193rd dam by Maud Messenger, 194th dam by Maud Messenger, 195th dam by Maud Messenger, 196th dam by Maud Messenger, 197th dam by Maud Messenger, 198th dam by Maud Messenger, 199th dam by Maud Messenger, 200th dam by Maud Messenger, 201st dam by Maud Messenger, 202nd dam by Maud Messenger, 203rd dam by Maud Messenger, 204th dam by Maud Messenger, 205th dam by Maud Messenger, 206th dam by Maud Messenger, 207th dam by Maud Messenger, 208th dam by Maud Messenger, 209th dam by Maud Messenger, 210th dam by Maud Messenger, 211th dam by Maud Messenger, 212th dam by Maud Messenger, 213th dam by Maud Messenger, 214th dam by Maud Messenger, 215th dam by Maud Messenger, 216th dam by Maud Messenger, 217th dam by Maud Messenger, 218th dam by Maud Messenger, 219th dam by Maud Messenger, 220th dam by Maud Messenger, 221st dam by Maud Messenger, 222nd dam by Maud Messenger, 223rd dam by Maud Messenger, 224th dam by Maud Messenger, 225th dam by Maud Messenger, 226th dam by Maud Messenger, 227th dam by Maud Messenger, 228th dam by Maud Messenger, 229th dam by Maud Messenger, 230th dam by Maud Messenger, 231st dam by Maud Messenger, 232nd dam by Maud Messenger, 233rd dam by Maud Messenger, 234th dam by Maud Messenger, 235th dam by Maud Messenger, 236th dam by Maud Messenger, 237th dam by Maud Messenger, 238th dam by Maud Messenger, 239th dam by Maud Messenger, 240th dam by Maud Messenger, 241st dam by Maud Messenger, 242nd dam by Maud Messenger, 243rd dam by Maud Messenger, 244th dam by Maud Messenger, 245th dam by Maud Messenger, 246th dam by Maud Messenger, 247th dam by Maud Messenger, 248th dam by Maud Messenger, 249th dam by Maud Messenger, 250th dam by Maud Messenger, 251st dam by Maud Messenger, 252nd dam by Maud Messenger, 253rd dam by Maud Messenger, 254th dam by Maud Messenger, 255th dam by Maud Messenger, 256th dam by Maud Messenger, 257th dam by Maud Messenger, 258th dam by Maud Messenger, 259th dam by Maud Messenger, 260th dam by Maud Messenger, 261st dam by Maud Messenger, 262nd dam by Maud Messenger, 263rd dam by Maud Messenger, 264th dam by Maud Messenger, 265th dam by Maud Messenger, 266th dam by Maud Messenger, 267th dam by Maud Messenger, 268th dam by Maud Messenger, 269th dam by Maud Messenger, 270th dam by Maud Messenger, 271st dam by Maud Messenger, 272nd dam by Maud Messenger, 273rd dam by Maud Messenger, 274th dam by Maud Messenger, 275th dam by Maud Messenger, 276th dam by Maud Messenger, 277th dam by Maud Messenger, 278th dam by Maud Messenger, 279th dam by Maud Messenger, 280th dam by Maud Messenger, 281st dam by Maud Messenger, 282nd dam by Maud Messenger, 283rd dam by Maud Messenger, 284th dam by Maud Messenger, 285th dam by Maud Messenger, 286th dam by Maud Messenger, 287th dam by Maud Messenger, 288th dam by Maud Messenger, 289th dam by Maud Messenger, 290th dam by Maud Messenger, 291st dam by Maud Messenger, 292nd dam by Maud Messenger, 293rd dam by Maud Messenger, 294th dam by Maud Messenger, 295th dam by Maud Messenger, 296th dam by Maud Messenger, 297th dam by Maud Messenger, 298th dam by Maud Messenger, 299th dam by Maud Messenger, 300th dam by Maud Messenger, 301st dam by Maud Messenger, 302nd dam by Maud Messenger, 303rd dam by Maud Messenger, 304th dam by Maud Messenger, 305th dam by Maud Messenger, 306th dam by Maud Messenger, 307th dam by Maud Messenger, 308th dam by Maud Messenger, 309th dam by Maud Messenger, 310th dam by Maud Messenger, 311th dam by Maud Messenger, 312th dam by Maud Messenger, 313th dam by Maud Messenger, 314th dam by Maud Messenger, 315th dam by Maud Messenger, 316th dam by Maud Messenger, 317th dam by Maud Messenger, 318th dam by Maud Messenger, 319th dam by Maud Messenger, 320th dam by Maud Messenger, 321st dam by Maud Messenger, 322nd dam by Maud Messenger, 323rd dam by Maud Messenger, 324th dam by Maud Messenger, 325th dam by Maud Messenger, 326th dam by Maud Messenger, 327th dam by Maud Messenger, 328th dam by Maud Messenger, 329th dam by Maud Messenger, 330th dam by Maud Messenger, 331st dam by Maud Messenger, 332nd dam by Maud Messenger, 333rd dam by Maud Messenger, 334th dam by Maud Messenger, 335th dam by Maud Messenger, 336th dam by Maud Messenger, 337th dam by Maud Messenger, 338th dam by Maud Messenger, 339th dam by Maud Messenger, 340th dam by Maud Messenger, 341st dam by Maud Messenger, 342nd dam by Maud Messenger, 343rd dam by Maud Messenger, 344th dam by Maud Messenger, 345th dam by Maud Messenger, 346th dam by Maud Messenger, 347th dam by Maud Messenger, 348th dam by Maud Messenger, 349th dam by Maud Messenger, 350th dam by Maud Messenger, 351st dam by Maud Messenger, 352nd dam by Maud Messenger, 353rd dam by Maud Messenger, 354th dam by Maud Messenger, 355th dam by Maud Messenger, 356th dam by Maud Messenger, 357th dam by Maud Messenger, 358th dam by Maud Messenger, 359th dam by Maud Messenger, 360th dam by Maud Messenger, 361st dam by Maud Messenger, 362nd dam by Maud Messenger, 363rd dam by Maud Messenger, 364th dam by Maud Messenger, 365th dam by Maud Messenger, 366th dam by Maud Messenger, 367th dam by Maud Messenger, 368th dam by Maud Messenger, 369th dam by Maud Messenger, 370th dam by Maud Messenger, 371st dam by Maud Messenger, 372nd dam by Maud Messenger, 373rd dam by Maud Messenger, 374th dam by Maud Messenger, 375th dam by Maud Messenger, 376th dam by Maud Messenger, 377th dam by Maud Messenger, 378th dam by Maud Messenger, 379th dam by Maud Messenger, 380th dam by Maud Messenger, 381st dam by Maud Messenger, 382nd dam by Maud Messenger, 383rd dam by Maud Messenger, 384th dam by Maud Messenger, 385th dam by Maud Messenger, 386th dam by Maud Messenger, 387th dam by Maud Messenger, 388th dam by Maud Messenger, 389th dam by Maud Messenger, 390th dam by Maud Messenger, 391st dam by Maud Messenger, 392nd dam by Maud Messenger, 393rd dam by Maud Messenger, 394th dam by Maud Messenger, 395th dam by Maud Messenger, 396th dam by Maud Messenger, 397th dam by Maud Messenger, 398th dam by Maud Messenger, 399th dam by Maud Messenger, 400th dam by Maud Messenger, 401st dam by Maud Messenger, 402nd dam by Maud Messenger, 403rd dam by Maud Messenger, 404th dam by Maud Messenger, 405th dam by Maud Messenger, 406th dam by Maud Messenger, 407th dam by Maud Messenger, 408th dam by Maud Messenger, 409th dam by Maud Messenger, 410th dam by Maud Messenger, 411th dam by Maud Messenger, 412th dam by Maud Messenger, 413th dam by Maud Messenger, 414th dam by Maud Messenger, 415th dam by Maud Messenger, 416th dam by Maud Messenger, 417th dam by Maud Messenger, 418th dam by Maud Messenger, 419th dam by Maud Messenger, 420th dam by Maud Messenger, 421st dam by Maud Messenger, 422nd dam by Maud Messenger, 423rd dam by Maud Messenger, 424th dam by Maud Messenger, 425th dam by Maud Messenger, 426th dam by Maud Messenger, 427th dam by Maud Messenger, 428th dam by Maud Messenger, 429th dam by Maud Messenger, 430th dam by Maud Messenger, 431st dam by Maud Messenger, 432nd dam by Maud Messenger, 433rd dam by Maud Messenger, 434th dam by Maud Messenger, 435th dam by Maud Messenger, 436th dam by Maud Messenger, 437th dam by Maud Messenger, 438th dam by Maud Messenger, 439th dam by Maud Messenger, 440th dam by Maud Messenger, 441st dam by Maud Messenger, 442nd dam by Maud Messenger, 443rd dam by Maud Messenger, 444th dam by Maud Messenger, 445th dam by Maud Messenger, 446th dam by Maud Messenger, 447th dam by Maud Messenger, 448th dam by Maud Messenger, 449th dam by Maud Messenger, 450th dam by Maud Messenger, 451st dam by Maud Messenger, 452nd dam by Maud Messenger, 453rd dam by Maud Messenger, 454th dam by Maud Messenger, 455th dam by Maud Messenger, 456th dam by Maud Messenger, 457th dam by Maud Messenger, 458th dam by Maud Messenger, 459th dam by Maud Messenger, 460th dam by Maud Messenger, 461st dam by Maud Messenger, 462nd dam by Maud Messenger, 463rd dam by Maud Messenger, 464th dam by Maud Messenger, 465th dam by Maud Messenger, 466th dam by Maud Messenger, 467th dam by Maud Messenger, 468th dam by Maud Messenger, 469th dam by Maud Messenger, 470th dam by Maud Messenger, 471st dam by Maud Messenger, 472nd dam by Maud Messenger, 473rd dam by Maud Messenger, 474th dam by Maud Messenger, 475th dam by Maud Messenger, 476th dam by Maud Messenger, 477th dam by Maud Messenger, 478th dam by Maud Messenger,